

JUNIOR LEAGUE GIRL IN COURT FOR PETTY LARCENY

Sentence of Clare Cornell, Member of New York
Social Organization, Suspended by Court.

SHE IS PLACED ON PROBATION

Counsel Pleads She Is Not Responsible for Actions and Will Be Sent to Sanitarium.

By Associated Press.
NEW YORK, July 23.—Clare Cornell, one of the Junior League's most prominent and active members was arraigned today on a charge of petty larceny.

Miss Cornell, young society woman,
was in the court of special sessions and heard her own lawyer plead that she was not responsible for her actions.

The daughter of a formerly wealthy family, prominent in New York and Florida society, she had pleaded guilty to stealing two silver vases
from a Fifth Avenue store.

On the ground that she was not responsible the court suspended sentence
and placed her on probation.

Her lawyer said that financial troubles in her family had affected
her mind and promised that she would be sent to a sanitarium if sentence were withheld.

Although her arrest took place
last night, it did not become generally known until last night when she was discovered she had been in a room for a time in the West Third Street Station, where she was looked for by police.

Married After Midnight Ride.
The disclosure of her arrest also revealed that she had married a handsome but poor young artist, Robert Ten Eyck Stevenson, to whom she was wedded in December, 1925, after a wild midnight
ride through two states in search of a license and a parson.

On that occasion they drove to Stamford, Conn., where they were married by a justice of the peace.
The marriage was annulled in
New York, and she could get a marriage license in Connecticut.

On that occasion they drove to Stamford, Conn., where they were
married by a justice of the peace.
The marriage was annulled in
New York, and she could get a marriage license in Connecticut.

The marriage proved a failure.
When in May of this year Mrs.
Cornell filed suit in Westchester county for annulment of marriage on grounds of fraud and also a separation on grounds of cruel and inhuman treatment. What happened that case never was publicly known and while it was reported last night that the marriage was annulled, it was not possible to ascertain which party, if either, was at fault.

Prior to her engagement to the young artist, she is said to have been engaged to the Marquis de Monsie, a cousin of King Alfonso of Spain. At about that time a bodyguard Sheriff seized jewelry and valued at $55,000, the property of Mrs. Cornell and her mother, because of judgments of $15,021
and $12,971, obtained by a bonding company, were not paid.

Her first appearance in a court
was in July, 1921, when she sued Henry Bird, an entomologist of New York, charging he killed her favorite pet. Later she was sued by William O. Burton, millionaire artist, because she failed to pay for picture he painted of her. A judgment of $1800 against her later was reversed, when in Appellate term of Supreme Court, it was decided the picture was not a good picture of her.

Miss Cornell's work in society
clubs has attracted much attention. At present she lives with her mother in an apartment at 912 Madison Avenue.

MAN CAN'T SHUT MOUTH

Surgeon Gives Relief.
NEW YORK, July 23.—Miss Josephine Smith, 20 years old, of New York, N. Y., had to be operated yesterday before she was able to close her mouth following a surgery which stiffened the muscles of her jaw.

A surgeon was summoned. He administered an anesthetic and succeeded in relaxing the muscles.
The Smith seemed to have suffered no effects.

Queen's Choice of Words Corrected; Her Choice In Cheese Unchanged

Mistook Fungi for Something Else in Product Which King Preferred.

By the Associated Press.
READING, England, July 23.— King George and Queen Mary have widely divergent tastes in the matter of cheese, it was discovered
when they visited the recent Royal County Agricultural Show here.

Their majesties were inspecting a cheese-making exhibit when the King noticed a fine array of cheese.
He asked if it was ready for the table, informed that it was, the King replied: "That's how I like cheese. I am very fond of Wensleydale, but in any case I like it good and ripe."

"But it's full of little animals,
George, and you know it's not good for you like that," suggested the Queen.

The bacteriologist accompanying the party suggested to one of the Queen's ladies-in-waiting that the "little animals" were "fungi, Ma'm, not animals," which remark was overheard by her majesty.

"Oh, I am corrected, am I?" the Queen remarked with a broad smile, and added: "Well, in any case, I prefer Cheddar."

FAST TALKER SAVES THE DAY

By the Associated Press.
LONDON, July 23.—Numerous government supporters have been notoriously slack in attending the Friday Sessions of the House of Commons, and there was an amusing flurry this morning when the opposition, taking advantage of the slim attendance, tried to catch the Government napping by forcing the splitting of a division of the present parliament.

Capt. William Wedgwood Benn, Liberal, when the mining reorganization bill came up, moved its recommittal. Sir Laming Worthington-Evans, secretary of state for war, leaped into the breach for the Government and amid much merriment, occupied nearly a quarter of an hour with discursive talk until the government whips collected all its supporters within quick reach. Someone finally shouted, "You're safe!" to Sir Laming and the division was taken, resulting in rejection of the Liberal motion, 155 to 81.

BERLIN BANK ACCOUNTS RISE

Eight Thousand Depositors a Month in Municipal Enterprise.
By the Associated Press.
BERLIN, July 23.—Savings account in Berlin's municipal bank are increasing at the rate of nearly 8000 per month, 221,000 accounts
having been opened since the bank
was established in December, 1923.
The bank's deposits now approximate 100,000,000 marks, on which it pays 4 per cent interest.

The first steps in reimbursing the 1,500,000 prewar depositors for losses suffered through the collapse of the mark on the basis of a revaluation of 12 1/2 per cent, were begun yesterday when first payments were made to war cripples, invalids and small pensioners. A noticeable increase in deposits is reported by municipal savings banks in other sections of Germany.

MONTREY, Cal., July 23.— Lieut. J. B. Cooke, commander of the United States Submarine S-9, which arrived in Monterey Bay
from San Francisco yesterday after fighting a fire in which he and seven others were overcome by fumes, again leaped as a hero
when he rescued the Monterey Municipal Wharf today and saved Tom Hayase, 9-year-old Japanese, from drowning in the bay. The boy fell off the wharf while fish-

NEW YORK, July 23.—Plans for the great Lorie railroad merger
in the Southwest, combining the Kansas City Southern, Missouri,
Kansas-Texas and St. Louis-Southwestern systems, were completed
at a meeting of the Kansas City Southern directors today. An early application will be made to the Interstate Commerce Commission to approve the consolidation. The Kansas City Southern directors approved the plan. Directors of the other roads previously had taken similar action.

The merger, which has been in the process of formation for more than a year, will unite railways with total assets of approximately $600,000,000 and a combined trackage of nearly 6000 miles.

L. F. Lorie, chairman of the Kansas City Southern, laid the foundation for the new system in the spring of 1925 when he negotiated the purchase of a large section of the "Katy" railroad, sufficient to give the Kansas City Southern working control of it.

The framework for the merger was founded on last fall when the same interests acquired control of the Cotton Belt from the Rock Island after that road had been blocked in its plans to tie up with the St. Louis-Southwestern.

In the move that new railroad merger legislation might be passed plans for combining the properties were held in abeyance until the adjournment of Congress. Since no additional measures were enacted it was decided to proceed with the consolidation under existing laws. Details of the proposal will not be made public until the application is filed with the Interstate Commerce Commission.

Original plans for the Lorie merger contemplated the addition of other small roads in the southwest. Negotiations were opened at one time with the Louisiana Railway & Navigation Co., but so far have produced no results.

The Kansas City Southern recently was permitted by the Interstate Commerce Commission to defer the installation of automatic train control devices because of the financial burden involved in completing the consolidation.

U. S. TREASURY REPEATS BRITISH USED LOAN FOR COMMERCIAL ENDS

Acting Secretary Winston Stands by Figures Given Out in Washington Earlier in the Week.

BRITAIN SHARPLY DISPUTES ASSERTION

Holds America Has Right of Discrimination, but That Money Was for War Purchases.

By the Associated Press.
WASHINGTON, July 23.—The Treasury will go no farther with its arguments with Great Britain
as to whether the loans made by this country to England were really for commercial purposes.

Acting Secretary Winston said
today the figures given out by him
earlier in the week showed conclusively that most of England's expenditures here during the war were for commercial purposes and that he would let it go at that.

BRITAIN SHARPLY DISPUTES MELLON ON USE OF LOAN

By the Associated Press.
LONDON, July 23.—The British Treasury Department has taken issue with the statements recently made by Andrew W. Mellon, Treasurer of the United States Treasury, and acting Secretary Winston of the Treasury, in which the contention was set forth that Great Britain had negotiated a large part of her loan from the United States for "purely commercial, as distinguished from war purposes."

An elaborate rejoinder has been made public by the department. It concludes as follows:
"Great Britain provided sterling
and neutral currencies to meet all her own requirements throughout the war, and in addition, bore the burden of covering the sterling requirements of her continental allies."

"But for the fact that the United States did not feel able to enter the war to relieve her of this additional burden, Great Britain would have been able to meet from the resources she placed at the disposal of her allies, her expenditures
in America, and in all human probability, the British debt to the United States would never have been incurred."

"No Basis for Discrimination."
The British Treasury feels it necessary to set forth the foregoing facts because they seem to show that no cause for discriminating against Great Britain can be found upon her use of money borrowed from the United States for the prosecution of the war. No complaint has been made by Great Britain against the adverse discrimination with which she has been treated.

"It is recognized that the creditor is entitled to discriminate between debtors and that a debtor
is bound to comply with the demands of the creditor up to the full limit of the obligations. It is only when reasons are assigned for such discrimination which clearly arise
from a misconception of the facts that necessary corrections of fact must be made."

The Treasury communique starts with a reference to Secretary Mel-lon's statement as referred to by Chancellor Churchill in the House of Commons on July 19.

The Chancellor of the Exchequer quoted the American Secretary of the Treasury as having said that England borrowed a large proportion of her debt for purely commercial, as distinct from war, purposes, to meet commercial obligations maturing in America, to furnish India with silver, to buy food and to maintain exchange. American loans to England, according to Secretary Mellon, were not so much to provide war supplies as to furnish sterling for home and foreign needs and to save England from borrowing from her own people.

Answers Later Statement.
The communique then proceeds:
"A further statement, reported to have been issued by the United States Treasury, while largely confirming the facts cited by the Chancellor of the Exchequer, refers to England further points of detail, on which comment appears desirable."
"This statement sets out under certain headings the expenditure incurred by Great Britain in the United States after the latter's en-

By the Associated Press.
CHERBOURG, France, July 23.— Secretary of the Treasury Mellon desires to forget that he is a financier. He so informed newspapermen today as he came ashore
from the Majestic.

"I am on vacation and I want complete rest," he said. "I am not going to Deauville, but I expect to visit Touaine and Burgundy and to stay a short time in Paris and then go to London."

Mellon refused to say whether he would see Benjamin Strong Jr. of the Federal Reserve Bank of New York, who is in Europe, or Mon-tagu Norman of the Bank of England or Dr. Hjalmar Schacht of the German Reichsbank during his visit.

Mellon landed with his son and Clarence H. Mackay and Theodore Roosevelt, his secretary. J. P.
Morgan, who also was a passenger on the Majestic, proceeded on the vessel to London.

ST. LOUISAN WHO LOST
LIFE AT SUMMER HOME

ISAAC COOK JR.

An effort to retrieve a canoe which had drifted from the beach near his summer home at Biddeford Pool, Me., cost the life yesterday of Isaac Cook Jr., 60 years old, of 3 Hortense place, son of the founder of the company which made Cook's Imperial champagne.

As Associated Press dispatch stated that Mr. Cook was at dinner in his cottage when a heavy wind storm broke over the coast, and from a window he saw his son's canoe drift from the beach. He ran out, plunged into the water fully clothed and a few moments later was seen struggling frantically.

Gallant Effort at Rescue.
James Montgomery Flagg, magazine illustrator, and a next-door neighbor, made a gallant attempt to save Mr. Cook. Reaching the situation, Flagg ran to the beach, swam out to Mr. Cook and succeeded in bringing him to the shore. A physician who was summoned from a nearby life saving station pronounced Mr. Cook dead of heart disease.

The cottage at Biddeford Pool has been used by the Cook family for 25 years. Mr. Cook's widow, Mrs. Edith Mudd Cook, and his three children, Henry M. Cook, 26; Miss Elizabeth Cook, 22; and Robert Cook, 17, were at the cottage when he died.

Mr. Cook was born at Fox River, Wis., and was brought to St. Louis when a year old. He graduated from Harvard in 1890 and married a daughter of Dr. Henry H. Mudd in 1898.

Business Career of Cook.
The elder Cook founded the American Wine Co., of which Mr. Cook was a stockholder and director. A half-brother, the late Douglas E. Cook, became president of the company after the death of the founder, and his son, Ellis W. Cook, now heads the concern.

For several years Mr. Cook managed real estate for his father's estate, but dropped his business activities three years ago. Internment will be in St. Louis.

try into the war, showing a total of approximately $1,219,000,000. Then quoting five headings of this expenditure from the American Treasury statement, the communique continues:

"It is not understood why the United States Treasury statement appears to treat dollars derived by the British Treasury from the sale of sterling and rupees as not constituting part of Great Britain's independent resources. The United States Government was provided by Great Britain for the American Army needs in the United Kingdom with sterling against which the United States paid dollars. This was in essence a purchase of exchange for sterling and clearly must be regarded as an independent resource of Great Britain. On the United States Treasury's figures, therefore, items 2, 3 and 4, amount for $1,300,000,000 out of the total expenditure of $7,219,000,000.

"As regards the further sum of $1,853,000,000 obtained from the European allies in the form of reimbursement, it must be remembered that Great Britain throughout the war furnished the allies with assistance in obtaining purchases in the United States.

"For example, Great Britain could have satisfied her cereal requirements from the British Isles, millions and Argentina without purchasing wheat in the United States and without borrowing dollars for that purpose. To save tonnage and the risk of U-boat attacks, however, it was arranged that Italy and France should be supplied at Mediterranean ports with cereals grown in the British Empire, whereas we bought for ourselves in America and borrowed for the purpose.

Some Amounts Were Repaid.
"The cost of all these purchases was distributed between the allies, and considerable amounts were repaid by them (out of loans they raised in the United States). But a large proportion remains at the charge of the British Government and is included in the British debt to America.

"Moreover, the reimbursements received from the other allies were not as equal as further British purchases in America of essential commodities, and the reimbursements in no way invalidate the fact that British purchases of American munitions, foodstuffs and other commodities essential for the prosecution of the war largely exceeded the amount Great Britain borrowed from the United States. "The statement of the United States Treasury shows that there is no disagreement upon the actual figures and that of the total of $7,219,000,000 Great Britain expended in the United States between 1917 and 1920, only $4,074,000,000 was borrowed from the United States. "Regarding the expenditure of the funds thus available, the United States Treasury refers to the $1,852,000,000 spent on exchange and cotton purchases, and states: 'The greater part of this expenditure was for the maintenance of sterling exchange and was not absorbed by purchases in America, but for a sale in other countries at an unprecedented exchange rate.'

"Payment for Actual Exports." "This statement is very difficult to understand. It appears, however, to mean that the dollars in question were not used for purchases in America, but for a sale across the exchange. This is by no means the case. The expenditure in question represents largely, if not entirely, bills drawn on London by American exporters in respect to sales of cotton and other American commodities to England, and practically the whole amount represents payments for actual exports from America to England."

"Arbitrage transactions, that is, sales of dollars for other foreign currencies, were practically nonexistent during the war, and British purchasers in neutral countries, such as Scandinavia, Spain and Argentina, were financed entirely without American help."

The communique quotes from an official report of the United States Treasury for 1920 regarding the exchange item, and continues: "It is quite true that a large part of the British borrowing was spent on the purchase of foodstuffs for the civil population, as well as for the army, but it was recognized at the time, and it is obvious that supplies for the civil population were an essential of the war requirements. Food for the workman was as important as ammunition for the soldiers. Nor could the soldier be asked to fight if his family at home was not fed."

After Armistice Loans.
"The United States Treasury memorandum lays stress on the fact that the United States loaned $581,000,000 to Great Britain after the armistice, and the conclusion is suggested that this was borrowed for commercial purposes beneficial to Great Britain. In fact, it was an inevitable process in winding up the immense transactions current when the war was suddenly stopped."

(The conclusion of the British statement is given elsewhere in this issue.)

Poincaré insists on Independence in Financial Matters.
Special Cable to the Post-Dispatch, PARIS, July 23.—Premier Poincaré is more anxious to France within than he would appear to be abroad. His Ruhr policy has not even been recalled. While to the rest of the world he is considered a chauvinistic reactionary, France has always been considered a moderate with radical tendencies. His strength lies in his insistence on independence in financial matters. He evidently will not oppose debt ratification or foreign credits, but he will not put them at the head of his program as did former Finance Minister Caillaux. Poincaré, who is obtuse in foreign matters, is really more subtle than Caillaux in home politics.

With Briand in charge of foreign affairs, the return of Poincaré will not endanger France's friendly relations with her neighbors. Use Franc Notes for Stickers.
By the Associated Press, LONDON, July 23.—The suitcases of travelers arriving here today from the continent, plastered with 5 and 10-franc notes of France and Belgium attracted much attention. One party consisting of young Americans and Canadians, also had French franc notes adorning their trunks alongside the hotel and steamship labels. Several of the tourists had paper money pasted on their camera cases.

CHURCHILL HOLDS BRITISH BORROWED TO AID ALLIES

Asserts Failure of America to Help Shoulder Burden Resulted in Incurring Debt.

By JOHN L. BALDERSTON, London Correspondent of the Post-Dispatch and the New York World.

Copyright, 1926, by the Press and Publisher Publishing Co. (New York World and Post-Dispatch).

LONDON, July 23.—Chancellor of the Exchequer Winston Churchill's lengthy statement, following up his attack in the House of Commons Monday on Secretary Mellon's statement about the debt settlements, attempts to tear to pieces the statement of acting Secretary Winston of the United States Treasury, which was made in answer to Churchill's speech.

The Chancellor's document, which was approved by the Cabinet before being published, officially before issue with the United States on the latter's attitude toward the British debt. Churchill, however, is careful to avoid the charge that he is preparing the way for repudiation, by recognizing the right of the United States to "discriminate between debtors."

Some Howard conveyed a similar declaration to the State Department last year on instructions from Foreign Secretary Sir Austen Chamberlain. The Chancellor notes that the latest American pronouncement does not repeat Secretary Mellon's statement which Churchill denounced in Commons, that American loans were used to furnish sterling for home and foreign needs, and notes that there is no disagreement on the fact that a total of $7,219,000,000 spent by Great Britain in 1917 to 1919, only $4,074,000,000 was borrowed money.

For the rest, Churchill denies the accuracy of the implications of nearly all the claims of the United States Treasury. He takes them up in detail, and particularly joins issue on the assertion that $1,852,000,000 spent by Great Britain on exchange was not necessary for purchases in America, but enabled England to make purchases in other countries at undepreciated exchange rates.

After quoting the official United States Treasury report for 1920, that the "exchange item" reflects purchases of wheat, food, cotton, leather and oil, Churchill declares that the $581,000,000 loaned to Britain after the armistice was used largely to pay war contracts that could not be canceled, including $151,000,000 for munitions.

Makes New British Claim.
The most important declaration in the statement is this: "Great Britain provided sterling and neutral currencies to meet all her own requirements throughout the war, and, in addition, bore the burden of covering the sterling requirements of her continental allies. Had it not been for the fact that the United States did not feel able to enter the war to relieve her of this additional burden, Great Britain would have been able to meet free the resources she placed at the disposal of her allies her expenditures in America and in all human probability the British debt to the United States would never have been incurred."

This represents an entirely new British claim and goes further than the Balfour note, because it is explicit in making the contention that the whole British war debt to the United States arose out of the fact that Britain was compelled to assure the burden of war since the United States would not cover it by repaying the amounts of her continental allies' compelling Great Britain to do this. This statement is bound to arouse a storm of controversy, as it puts forth for the first time the British contention that the United States has no moral right to impose on Britain sacrifices not made for herself, but in the interest of the allied cause and for other allies.

Attacks Mellon's Statement.
Churchill attacks the statements of Secretary Mellon and his assistant, Mr. Winston, by saying: "The facts are indisputable that the money borrowed by Britain was spent (1) in the United States; (2) on United States commodities; (3) for purposes approved by the United States Treasury; (4) in accordance with the terms of the acts of Congress of the United States for the purpose of procuring the war." Discussion of the debt settlements is continuing in the press, enlivened by cables reporting American opinion.

Certain to Increase Bitterness.
Intemperate comment on both sides of the Atlantic is obscuring the merits of the controversy, and bitterness here is certain to be increased by a New York cable that appeared in today's Westminster Gazette, stating that Secretary Mellon describes Mr. Churchill to his intimates as the financial marplot of Europe.

The article continues that Mellon is convinced that the Chancellor is trying to convince Europeans that America must cancel their debts, and that he has been actively be-

WANAMAKER SUGGESTS NEW BANK TO AID FRENCH FRANC

Cleaning House Established by U. S. Could Do More for Europe Than League of Nations, He Says.

By the Associated Press.
NEW YORK, July 23.—A national reserve bank of commerce established by the United States as a clearing house for the world's business could do more toward clearing up European financial chaos than the League of Nations, in the view of Rodman Wanamaker, merchant. He has sent a cablegram to this effect to Maurice Bunau-Villars, editor of Le Matin, in Paris.

"Let us be done with carping and criticisms," says the cablegram. "France asks just time to recover, to pay in full; America will America will respond. We do not forget."

A new monetary system, to replace the debilitated franc, is the suggestion, however, of George E. Roberts, vice president of the National City Bank, who has just returned from a six months' visit to Europe.

A small part of the losses resulting from the decline of the franc would have been established France financially, if collected in revenues, Roberts says. The replacement would still leave the material, industrial and agricultural wealth of France and give it a fresh start in overcoming its difficulties, which Roberts considers the result of too many blocs playing politics. Notwithstanding isolated outbursts of feeling against Americans in France, steamship officials here say that bookings to France are normal.

Steamer Being Dashed to Pieces on Bahama Reef.

By the Associated Press.
NEW YORK, July 23.—The steamship Maravi of the United Fruit line, wrecked from its course yesterday to race to the rescue of the 60 members of the crew of the disabled British freighter, Port Kembla, on the rocks off Watlings Island, in the Bahamas. Capt. D. W. McLellan of the Maravi in a message to the New York Mail, said that he was shifting his course on reports that the Port Kembla was being dashed to pieces on the rocks.

The Port Kembla, of the Commonwealth and Dominion line, went on a week ago while bound from London to New Zealand, via the Panama Canal. Twenty-five passengers were taken off immediately, but the crew remained with its captain, thinking the vessel would be saved. The steamer struck a Bahama reef July 2, but did not call for aid, and grounded on a San Salvador reef and was reported sinking on July 9 before it struck the Watling Island rocks on July 12.

hind France's failure to ratify the Berenger agreement.

The correspondent read this statement to a British Treasury official close to the Chancellor last night, and his response indicated that he feared the heat wave in Washington had touched the brains of some persons.

Charges of this sort against the Chancellor may bring him back quickly the popularity he lost during the war, the Russian adventures and the general strike. Nervous Over France's Collapse.
Sober opinion here regrets the tendencies of statements of the American Treasury, as well as the "debt stunt" of Lord Rothemann's Tory Daily Mail, which returns to the attack today, making capital of the cable from the financial editor of the Boston Post, suggesting the annexation of Canada in return for cancellation of debts. Despite the Daily Mail's extravagant language, it is important that this large and influential paper is out flat-footed for cancellation of debts.

Much of the ill-feeling here is ascribed to nervousness over the collapse of the franc when considered with the coal stoppage here and the resulting black outlook for the British Treasury.

BELGIUM PROPOSES TO TAX FOREIGNERS

Cabinet Council Today to Discuss Demand for 50 Pct. Levy on Rooms of Transients.

By the Associated Press.
BRUSSELS, July 23.—A Cabinet council will meet today to discuss a proposed special tax on foreigners residing in Belgium, or transient residents. The sponsors of the measure demand 50 per cent of the price of the rooms occupied by transients, or 50 per cent of the amount of the lease of regular residents, if they are subjects of countries the currency of which is at a high rate on the exchange market.

Another decree likely to be passed relates to the closing of cafes and dance halls at midnight. The tax against foreigners is meeting with much opposition, as reprisals are feared.

Belgium is determined to meet all her financial obligations, despite the serious situation confronting her treasury, Premier Jaspard declared today. Questioned as to the possibility of a request for cancellation of her debt to the United States, he said: "Belgium has signed the Washington agreement and does not think of not keeping her engagements, however heavy may be the charges to pay the exterior debt, which necessitates payments in dollars which very seriously weigh on Belgium's treasury."

The Senate unanimously ratified the bill turning over the State railways to the National Railway Co. This step, together with the naming of King Albert as Financial Director for the next six months, is intended to aid in the rehabilitation of the currency.

The Belgian franc held its own yesterday, being quoted at 43.95 to the dollar and 213 to the pound sterling.

Two bystanders were wounded, one seriously, when Leon Bell, a Negro, and a Negro woman, Willie Blount, engaged in a pistol fight in front of Bell's soft drink bar at 2314 Chestnut street today. Harvey Jones, a Negro, of 2310 Chestnut street, suffered a serious wound in the abdomen, and John P. Dockery, a white man, of 950 Maryville avenue, was grazed by a bullet which pierced his clothing. The woman had entered Bell's place demanding money and began shooting when he offered her $5. He threw two soda bottles and chased her west with a revolver, both shooting until police intervened.

Mogi told his story to a patrolman, who thought at first he was unbalanced by the heat. However, police went to the furnished room and found the girl's body on a couch.

ITALY PLANS TO PAY WAR DEBT BY BOYCOTTING U. S.

ROME, July 23.—Although no bitterness is expressed, either through the course of conversation or through the press in Italy, regarding the American debt, there undeniably is strong opinion that the United States should wipe out all war debts.

It is believed here by a vast majority of taxpayers that America made enough money during her neutrality and after the armistice to counterbalance any privations that forgiveness of the debt might cause.

The invasion of the so-called "caravans" of Americans during July and August intensifies this opinion. The Italians declare these visitors could not possibly visit Europe if currencies were normal. Consequently, they get their board and traveling expenses for about one-fifth of the real costs and, as their visits also cause prices to rise, their presence is considered a drawback to the nation at large.

Link Tourists With Debt.
The storekeepers do not make money from them and the hotel keepers alone profit, is the argument. Rightly or wrongly, the average Italian connects these visitors with the debt question and compares their prosperous appearance with that of the same class over here. Nevertheless, Italians face the prospect of paying their debts to the United States and Great Britain loyally, though without enthusiasm.

The emigration question also is bound up with the debt question. It is argued that if the United States continues to erect a high tariff wall, as well as to restrict the importation of Italian labor, the debt payments must be delayed over a longer term than arranged. Either America must enable Italy to pay her debts by importing labor and products, or else Italy must retaliate by seeking other countries for her foodstuffs.

Only by stopping Americans' trade in Italy will the debts be paid. This is the widespread opinion in the commercial world. Many suggestions for cutting down imports are farfetched, but there is no doubt that serious efforts are being made to close the doors on American wheat, oil and machinery. Considering the discipline under the existing regime the program has every chance of success.

Selected British Ship Released.
By the Associated Press.
NEW LONDON, Conn., July 23.—On an order from Washington the Coast Guard here today released the British schooner Fannie Powell II, of Halifax, N. S., and had her escorted to sea. The vessel was seized recently off Block Island. On board were 1500 cases of Scotch whisky. The vessel's papers showed clearance from St. Pierre, Micelson, for Nassau, Bahama Islands.

Man Runs Back to Obtain Professional Attention.
The first thought of Edward Krug, 39, of 2239 Maiden Lane, when his clothing caught fire when he was burning rubbish behind his home yesterday, was to run to a fire engine house a block away. The fireman of Company 39, Twenty-second and North Market streets, smothered the fire, then sent Krug to City Hospital to be treated for burns, after which he went home.

Others, who watched the bus, said it was called to check the engine. Physicians at the hospital said the complete list of names will not be known today.

CHILDREN SINGING WHEN CRASH COMES

Driver of Vehicle Wrecked Against Wall of Store, Jailed—Too Great Speed
on Grade Alleged.

By Leased Wire From the New York Bureau of the Post-Dispatch.
NEW YORK, July 23.—Eight women and two small children were killed and 39 women and children injured last night when a bus, in which they were returning from an outing at Bear Mountain, of a neighborhood association of the Brooklyn district of Brooklyn, returned against the brick wall
of a building at Clayton's Corners,
just beyond the Erie Railroad crossing at Sparkill, N. Y.
Forty of the injured returned to their homes after treatment at Nyack Hospital. The others are in that hospital, at least six of them thought to have been mortally injured. All the dead and injured were residents of Brooklyn.

The deaths: Mrs. Catherine Barth, Mrs. Margaret Reiser, May Reiser, 12 years old; Mrs. Engelhardt, Mrs. Henry Schultz, Catherine Albert, Mrs.
Schultz, and three unidentified
women.

The accident occurred shortly after 9 o'clock, when Daniel Lastrow, the driver, was piloting the bus with its 49 passengers, all women and children, into Clayton's Corners, at the right of the railroad crossing, where the bus was slightly injured and was held at Rockland County jail for the grand jury,
was unable to explain how the accident occurred.

It was alleged that Lastrow took the turn at too great a speed after the bus had descended a grade
beyond the crossing and the bus slid, thrice overturned and then brought up with a crash, upside down, against the side wall of Clayton's grocery at the corner, its passengers imprisoned by the broken top and sides.

All of the dead and injured lived in Brooklyn, many of them in the vicinity of Menahan street and Central avenue. It is a weekly canton throughout the summer for the residents to charter a bus for a day's outing to Long Island, each of some place on Long Island, each of the passengers subscribing toward the hire of the bus.

The big bus, of the sight-seeing type, the owner of which was identified early today, left Menahan
street and Central avenue at about 8 o'clock in the morning. The driver to Bear Mountain Park was made without mishap.

Many of the children were singing when the bus cleared the railroad crossing on the return journey about sundown. A few minutes later a throng of children heard the crash of breaking metal and wood and the screams of the injured.

Bus Jammed Against Store.
Police Lieutenant Stearn and fireman Blauvelt, hurrying around into Clayton's Corners, found the wrecked bus jammed
against the grocery wall, women
and children struggling frantically
in the wreckage. A dozen or more of the bus were unable to extricate
the passengers.

A few minutes later a fire company got to work with axes and sawed away the side of the bus. The dead and injured were then lifted and taken to Nyack Hospital.
Automobile motorists had placed at the disposal of the police.

Many neighbors were on hand to wish the picnicers a happy and safe trip when the bus left in the morning. Last night, while relatives were gathering to meet the returning bus, news of the tragedy arrived. Within a few minutes the streets were crowded with relatives of those who made the trip,
many of them pleading with police names of the dead and injured.

TWO views of Mrs. Josephine Haynes, who by opening her mouth in Probate Court, convinced the judge she was the heir
to a $1700 estate. The lower photograph was the court exhibit, taken when Mrs. Haynes was 6 years old.

OPENS HER MOUTH TO GAIN ESTATE

Woman Put to Novel Test by Judge to Identify Her With Early Photograph.

"Open your mouth!"
This command, spoken suddenly by Probate Judge Holtcamp from the bench yesterday, caused Mrs.
Josephine Haynes, 26, of 2509
Maiden Lane, such astonishment
that she automatically complied with the order of the court.

Judge Holtcamp studied her expression of amazement for an in-
graph he held in his hand. The photograph was that of Josephine St. John, taken at the age of six years—a surprised girl with her mouth open.

"I'm convinced you are the same girl," the judge announced.
Explanation of the Court action
was immediately forthcoming. Mrs.
Haynes had presented a claim for the estate of her father, Patrick
St. John, of 1834 North Jefferson avenue, who died Feb. 14, 1925, leaving $1776.98 in the hands of Public Administrator Hampe, pending the appearance of his heir.

After the judge had established
her identity to his satisfaction,
Mrs. Haynes told the Court that she had married when she was 16
and had left home. Her mother had died and she had lost track of her father. Then her husband had died and she was alone in the world and needed her father's small estate.

Judge Holtcamp took the case under advisement, after indicating that he would find in favor of Mrs.
Haynes.

REPORT OF LIQUOR SALES ON U. S. SHIPS

Agents Investigate Charge by Stayton—Leviathan Captain Denies It.

By the Associated Press.
WASHINGTON, July 23.—Charges
of liquor selling aboard Shipping Board vessels, including the Leviathan, are under investigation by Federal authorities in New York.
Taking cognizance of public charges by W. H. Stayton, head of the Association Against the Prohibition Amendment, officials said that customs authorities and department of justice agents already had been impossible so far to secure evidence sufficient to confis-cate any ships.

The Shipping Board has co-operated with the prohibition service, Dow said, and in some instances has discharged large numbers of seamen implicated in the importation of liquor.

In making his charges in a public statement, Capt. Stayton called attention to suggestions that padlock proceedings be instituted against the offending ships, but it was pointed out here today that an even more drastic penalty could be applied to vessels which illegally transport intoxicants. Buildings where the law is violated can be closed and padlocked, but ships,
like automobiles, are subject to confiscation.

The ships in question already are the property of the United States Government, however, and it was indicated that any penalties imposed probably would be more against the individuals responsible than against the vessels themselves.

A member of the association informed Stayton that almost any liquor except beer could be purchased on a recent trip to Europe
aboard the Leviathan and that the crew were kept busy mixing drinks every night.

Stayton charged that the authorities were conniving with bootlegging stewards aboard the vessels.

BOSTON, July 23.—Capt. Hartley of the United States liner Leviathan
today denied that any liquor
has been sold on board the steamship, as charged in a statement last night by Capt. W. H. Stayton, chairman of the Association Against the Prohibition Amendment.

JAIL PRISONERS WHISTLE FOR BEER, GUARDS FETCH IT

Bootleg Resort in Shadow of Cook County Prison Raided; Man and Wife Held.

By the Associated Press.
CHICAGO, July 23.—So close to the Cook County Jail was a bootleg establishment raided by police last night that thirsty prisoners could whistle their orders, one whistle for beer and two for whisky. The frequent trips of guards to fill the orders betrayed the place. The guards returned with the liquor in a hot-water bag and delivered it to prisoners through rubber tubing
through the bars.

Denis Gallagher and his wife, arrested as operators of the place, denied having had dealings with any of the jail guards, but State's Attorney's aids said the bootleg men had been located by observing the movements of guards, particularly Elmer Moore. Moore, a jail guard until dismissed last week, was sentenced yesterday to 30 days in jail for contempt of court for the opening of inquiry into the smuggling of liquor to prisoners. The investigation was ordered after Moore and Frank Mc-Erlane, gunman prisoner, whom Moore was guarding, appeared in court intoxicated.

behalf of residents of the Water-

tion of solid-tired, double-deck buses, which were taken off the line about 15 days ago and replaced several weeks ago. He declared the vibration from the solid-tired vehicles was so great it moved plates on tables. Single-deck, pneumatic-tired buses had been operated in the interim.

SUIT SETTLED AFTER SEVEN YEARS IN COURT

Plaintiffs to Get Half of Two Life Insurance Policies Totaling $5000.

After being in court seven years
contesting for payment of two insurance policies totaling $5000, carried by the late Mrs. Laura Mueller, the two beneficiaries named in the policies have compromised with the insurance company, the John Hancock Mutual Life, on the basis of 50 cents on the dollar.

The settlements are in favor of Mrs. Joseph L. Schertz, wife of a realty dealer, and her brother, Oliver W. Mueller, 3547 Wyoming street, daughter and son, respectively, of Mrs. Mueller, and were approved by their attorney, Stephen C. Rogers.

There have been three jury trials
in the Circuit Court on the Mueller policies and the matter has been sent to the St. Louis Court of Appeals twice and the Missouri Supreme Court once. But so far as the court contest is concerned the litigation has been a draw, with no effective final decision from any tribunal.

Court Records in Case.
Court records show that the claim of Mrs. Schertz was tried first, resulting in a jury verdict against her. However, the Court of Appeals, on her motion, ordered a new trial, but as her brother's suit had gotten under way in the meantime her suit thereafter was permitted to lie dormant until his case could be determined as a test case.

With the facts the same in both cases, a jury decided in favor of the brother for the full amount, but the verdict was set aside by the trial judge and a new trial granted
on the ground that improper evidence had been introduced. In the succeeding trial Mueller again won and it became the turn of the defense to carry the litigation to the Court of Appeals, only to have the award affirmed by that Court.

Then the defense succeeded in getting the case to the Supreme Court on a writ that the Court of Appeals decision was in conflict with an opinion in a similar case.

Last March the Supreme Court,
in passing on the test case, ordered the litigation sent back to the Circuit Court for another trial.
The decision, it was said, being based principally on technical grounds in regard to an instruction
to the jury. So Attorney Rogers got busy greasing up the wheels of justice to start over again with a demand for the payment of the insurance in full and was ready to proceed when the parties got to gether and decided to call a halt.

The Contention in Suit.
In the various stages of the contest it was the contention of defense that when Mrs. Mueller obtained the insurance three months before her death, which took place March 4, 1919, she withheld information concerning an allotment with which she was alleged to have been afflicted. A question concerning the allotment was asked at the time, it was stated.

Counsel for plaintiffs denied
there had been any concealment
as alleged by the company. He said no physician had ever pronounced Mrs. Mueller suffering from the allotment mentioned and as she was not a doctor she could not render a diagnosis herself. Her death followed an operation for removal of a tumor.

TOO MANY AUTOS ON $150 A MONTH

Judge Sentences Young Husband to Sell Car and Pay Wife $15 a Week.

The court of Justice of the Peace
Werremeyer in Clayton was a hot and stuffy place yesterday afternoon when the last case of a long docket of peace disturbance and nonsupport cases was reached. Another nonsupport case was Leroy Edna Robinson, 2501 Goodale avenue and Edna Robinson, 2501 Goodale avenue, Overland, who were waiting on a bench with their three-year-old daughter between them.

They approached the bench tim-dly and waited side by side for the judge to speak. Edna and Leroy were not like the drab couples who had taken up most of the court's time. They were neatly dressed as if for a holiday in town.

"Why, this fellow looks like a good boy," said the judge, addressing Mr. Robinson. He only gets $150 a month and we can't afford it. The machine we have now has got in February. It costs $52.35 a month on time payments and the payments on our house are $47.10
a month. He made more money
to feed the baby and me."

The husband started to explain and the Court did not interrupt. "I work hard—seven days a week, long hours, and I need relaxation,"
said Robinson in a quiet voice.

"We Can't Afford It."
"Yes, I know honey," rejoined his wife sympathetically. "But we can't afford it on your salary. I've existed on nothing but bread and jam for days at a time and you know I borrowed $110 from father
a few months ago."

"It's like this," said Robinson.
"Last year I made more money than I do now—commissions—and then in February I expected to get a better job and I needed a good car."

"But you had a new Ford roadster. That was good enough. You didn't have to get the Oakland.
And it been making you stay away until so late at night. You know that wasn't right, daddy."

"I didn't want to stay away, but you nagged at me so much I didn't know what else to do. I wish I had never seen an automobile."
Justice Werremeyer decided it was time to interrupt. "Do you think you could get along on $15
a week?" he asked Mrs. Robinson.

"Well," she replied, "we talked it over and I told daddy I'd ask for $17.50. But he said he'd jump in the river if I did that. I think $15 would be enough."

Sentenced to Sell Auto.
"Young man," ruled the Justice.
"I'll sentence you to a year in jail
and stay execution if you pay her $15 a week—and get rid of that machine. Is that all right with you?"

"Yes, your honor, it's all right
with me," replied the husband.
"Go home," said the judge.
The couple left the courtroom
together each holding one of the baby's hands. Outside they entered the sedan. Robinson took the wheel and with the baby between them, they drove off smiling and chatting.

VALENTINO CHALLENGE MAY DRAW PROMOTER

Bout With Writer of Powder Editorial Suggested to Open Dempsey Fight.

Special to the Post-Dispatch.
CHICAGO, July 23.—The editorial writer on the Chicago Tribune who pointed to Rudolph Valentino as the horrible example of the decadence of American manhood and thereby drew a challenge to a fistful duel from the movie star, has not yet revealed his identity. Rudolph is still in New York but is expected back here in a day or two looking for some one to give him battle.

Tex Rickard, dollar-minded fight promoter, is already here making arrangements for his coming heavyweight bout between Champion Dempsey and Gene Tunney and it has been suggested that a bout between Battling Rudolph and The Unknown Scribe would make a good preliminary affair and draw thousands of temperamental
young women to the arena.

Writer's First Punch.
It was the opening of a new public ballroom in Chicago which caused the Tribune's writer to draw first blood. When the ballroom opened it was discovered that in the men's dressing rooms vending machines which dispensed powder
puffs had been installed.

The editorial writer opened his attack on the cinema shiek with the following right swing to the jaw:
"A powder vending machine in a men's washroom—home americanism—why didn't someone quietly draw Rudolph Gargleome, alias Valentino, years ago?"

Followed by More Blows.
This punch may not have landed on Rudy's jaw but it found its mark on his sensitive nerves as did the following swings which were a part of the editorial:
"It is time for a matfarchy if the male of the species allows such things to persist. Better a rule by masculine women than by effeminate men. Man began to slip, we are beginning to believe, when he discarded the straight razor for the safety razor pattern. We shall not be surprised when we hear that the safety razor has given way to the depilatory."

"It is a strange social phenomenon and one that is running its course not only here in America
but in Europe as well. Chicago may have the powder puffs; London has its dancing men; and Paris its Gigolos. Down with Decatur; up with Ellinor Glyn. Hollywood is the national school of masculinity. Rudy, the beautiful gardeners' boy, is the prototype of the American male."

WET

VAPORIZED

Wet gas is a mixture of atomized liquid gasoline globules and vapor. Wet gas floods certain cylinders at the expense of others. It chokes the power and gives a characteristic "drag" on quick acceleration.

Dry gas is a completely vaporized mixture of gasoline and air with no liquid globules. It is a perfect motor fuel. Dry gas equalizes cylinder distribution and gives maximum acceleration without flooding.

The public has accepted dry gas as an unmistakably superior motor fuel. Texaco is a dry gas. It is something that automotive engineers have long wished for and petroleum engineers for years been trying to produce. The Texas Company's success in the manufacture of the new and better Texaco, a gasoline that forms a dry gas under engine conditions, is a distinct achievement.

THE public has been quick to notice and appreciate the easier start and quicker pick-up with the new and better Texaco Gasoline.

Motorists everywhere tell us of cleaner spark plugs and the better lubrication resulting from the complete vaporization of this product. That is to say, there are no "heavy ends" to foul the engine and dilute or impair the lubricating oil.

From all over the country we get reports of the better acceleration and mileage, and the freedom from carbon-knock.

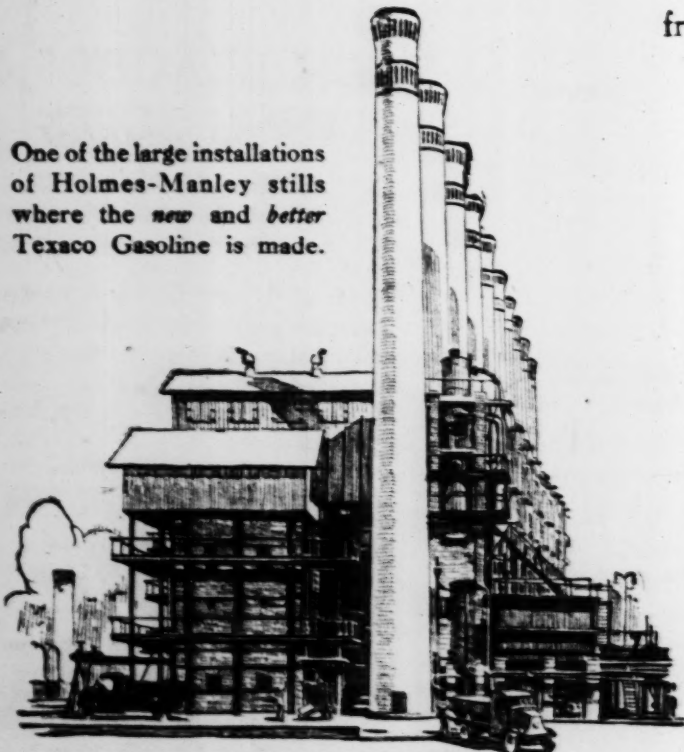

The new smoothness is a result of the even distribution obtained through the characteristic low distillation range and anti-knock quality of this fuel—produced by The Texas Company's Holmes-Manley Gasoline Process.

Its anti-knock quality is a decided accomplishment, obtained, as it is, without the addition of chemicals or poisons.

The new and better Texaco Gasoline is not only safe to use—but economical. Remember this—no poison—no knocking, better hill-work and more mileage—then go to the nearest Texaco pump to begin a new era of more pleasurable motoring.

Reads His Mail

The Honorable "Looie",
St. Louis, Mo., U.S.A.

Dear old fellow:

Pip! Pip!, old chap! Cheerio
—and dash it!—all that sort of twiddle twaddle.

What I want to tell you, old bean, is short and to the point. It's about falling off all these rocking horses (the Deuce take them!)

Looie, every time I'm out riding, I bally well happen to run across a can of your White Banner lying on the ground, and while my horse (the silly-ass)
keeps on going, I, in my haste to capture the treasure, stop—on the ground!

Just have time for this note,
old thing, to let you know how much I possively adore your "Special Dark" product—America and St.-Louis can be deuced proud of you.

Drop in at my funny old castle the next time you bound over the ocean, Looie.

Royally yours,
The Prince.

Looie,
Premier Distributing Co.,
26 S. Commercial St.,
St. Louis, Mo.

Dear Looie:

I am in love with a
nice young man who says he loves me.
My mother likes him, and father, too,
because they say any man who uses White Banner Malt Extract must have good judgment and brains.

But lately, Looie, my sweetheart has stopped using this brand...at least he says he has, and now mother and father have forbade my seeing him. What shall I do?

(Looie's Answer)
Dear Anxious:
Testing your love. Your young man is only
him, and know for a fact he has never Banner. So dry your pretty eyes,
Anxious, and play a waiting game.
(Signed) Looie.

Dear Looie:

I want to register a kick—the place where I buy my White Banner is always seeming to run short of this excellent malt.
Can't you prod them up a bit? You'd better!

We all use it around here—
perhaps that's why the store is always out of it.

Wishing you continued success, I am
John Jones

Looie, My Love:

Destroy this letter! Don't let Lena see it! Now promise!

Looie, I simply had to write you...I've never even seen you...I just know you must be a handsome brute. (All successful and great men are, Looie.)

I'm coming to you for understanding and sympathy, Looie dear. My husband doesn't understand me. I know you will, for everybody says you are simply Great Hearted.

Looie, my husband won't even try White Banner, just because it's MY favorite and only brand of malt extract.
Isn't he stubborn? And mean? So won't you meet me somewhere soon and help make very happy, your

St. Louis, Mo.

Dear Looie:

I want to rise up on my hind legs and tell the whole universe
that you certainly picked the malt -- White Banner!

I took your advice and tried it one day...since then it's been my Buddy...yes sir! It's like an old tried and true friend—always gives sympathy and cheer when it's needed most.

If my letter of praise will only get one more White Banner user
for you...I will be happy—and so will he!

Gratefully yours,
George Arnheim.

Dear Looie:

Well, you great big hunk of Happiness—why don't you write me once in a sometime?

I'm out here in Wyoming, working for old man Health on his cattle ranch. I'm under Doctor's orders... that's why I'm writing you, Smile-A-Minute Pal.

Looie, Doc has assured me
that a steady ration of White Banner Malt Extract will build me up—so shoot me a couple of oases to start with—and make it snappy!

I'll admit I went wrong when I didn't take your tip and get acquainted with this great extract—but believe me—Old Timer—I'm going to make up for lost time!

Thanks, Looie,

GANG PAY-OFF MAN

Police Think Philip Piazza Assassination Due to Liquor Feud or Vengeance.

By the Associated Press.

CHICAGO, July 23.—From the shadows of his own cafe, four blocks from a police station, liquor gangsters last night shot and killed Philip Piazza, wealthy owner of two roadhouses in Chicago Heights. The slayers, four or more, were in an automobile, and, after firing a fusillade at the cafe owner, they disappeared in the darkness.

Piazza was known to police as the ruler of the underworld in Chicago Heights and was reputed to be the pay-off man for a crew of alcohol cookers. It was in one of his cafes that prohibition agents several months ago discovered one of the largest stills on record. An audit of his books showed that he had an organization of several hundred men on weekly salaries.

On June 2, Mrs. Crystal Barrier and Giraldo Lamberta, the latter a wealthy jeweler of the suburb, were shot and killed, and another woman wounded in Derby Inn, a roadhouse owned by Piazza, and it was believed that the bullets were fired from the cafe owner. While police were inclined to believe a liquor feud lay behind the slaying, they were canvassing the possibility that the killing was in retaliation for the killing of Lamberta, one of the theory that the jeweler's death was a double-cross, engineered by Piazza.

Piazza was under indictment in connection with his alcohol activities. Chicago Heights, like Cicero, recently became the refuge of gangsters, and the Milano Cafe, in front of which Piazza was slain, was known as one of their favorite haunts. The suburb is southeast of Chicago.

INVESTIGATION OF REPORTED FLOGGING OF WOMEN CONVICTS

Arkansas Prison Farm Denies It; Grand Jury Looks Into Treatment of Three Who Escaped.

By the Associated Press. LITTLE ROCK, Ark., July 23.—Investigation of reports that Winona Green, life term convict at the Arkansas State farm for women, and two companions, were brutally whipped after a flight from the farm last month was in the hands of a committee of three members of the Pulaski County grand jury today. Mrs. Julia Roberts, superintendent of the institution, makes categorical denial of the allegations.

The Committee of Three was named to investigate conditions at the farm at the request of the People's Forum, a citizens' organization here. The charges first were published in a newspaper outside the State. The committee will report to the jury two weeks hence.

Mrs. Bernice Babcock, chairman of a committee appointed by the People's Forum, quoted Leona Bruce of Morrilton, a former inmate of the farm, as making affidavit she heard screams from a room in which the women were locked after William Hobbs, a guard, had walked toward it carrying a leather strap. The affidavit quoted Mrs. Green as saying she was given "13 licks which brought the blood."

Mrs. Babcock said members of the committee had not been allowed to interview Mrs. Green or her companions, the State Board of Charities and Correction questioning the authenticity of a letter from Gov. Terral inviting Mrs. Babcock to inspect the farm.

TWO MORE CASES OF TETANUS, RESULT OF JULY 4 ACCIDENTS

Boy Who Shot Himself in Hand and Another Burned by Torpedo Are in Hospitals.

Two more cases of tetanus resulting from mishaps in celebration of Independence day were reported to police today, increasing the total to six cases here, three of which have proven fatal.

New cases coming to the attention of police today were those of Phillip de Geare, 10 years old, of Duquoin, Ill., who is being treated at Missouri Pacific Hospital, and William Tomlinson Jr., 6, of 4320 Conham street, who is at city hospital. Both are expected to recover. De Geare accidentally shot himself in the right hand with a blank cartridge and Tomlinson was burned on the right knee by the explosion of a toy torpedo.

The condition of Justin Seitz, 12, of 5219 Maffitt avenue, who was taken to city hospital Wednesday suffering from a powder burn on the right hand, was reported improved today. Two St. Louis boys and a girl from Festus have died from tetanus in a week. All were powder-burned by blank cartridges.

KILLED IN FALL FROM TWELFTH STORY

PHILADELPHIA, July 23.—Charles E. Flower, Durham, N. C., a patient at Jefferson Hospital, fell or leaped from a twelfth-story window of the institution last night and was killed. He had been suffering from a nervous breakdown.

Moose For Dry Enforcement

By the Associated Press. PITTSBURGH, July 23.—National executives of the Loyal Order of Moose stand back of the prohibition law and, if necessary, chapters of clubs who persist in violating it would be revoked. T. M. Howell, general dictator of the organization, said today on his arrival from Moosehead, Ill., to investigate the recent raiding of 19 Moose clubs in Western Pennsylvania by prohibition agents. Howell later called on Prohibition Administrator John D. Pennington and assured the dry director of the organization's cooperation in enforcing the law.

NEW HAY FEVER PRESCRIPTION

ST. LOUIS DO

A St. Louis physician, after years of general practice, has developed a prescription for Hay Fever which has been successfully using since 1919. The guarantees will give you the most severe case of Hay Fever, or it costs nothing. The principal of the school of this city, say prescription permanently rid of his Hay Fever. St. Louis people praise many of them reporting sneezing and other distressing symptoms disappear after one use. Wolff-Wilson, Joliet, Wis., and all other physicians are distributing this medicine. The name of Hay Fever is often used to refer to the purifying results after using Hay Fever. If possible use Hay Fever before the anticipated respiratory use adds to the Hay Fever. It is also very effective in Hay Fever, Summer Catarrh, Sinus Trouble.

Resinol

Philadelphia, Pa., Jan. 1926. Baby had eczema for three months and nothing seemed to do it until I tried your Resinol. The itching stopped, the cheeks were red and raw, and the itchy skin was gone. After reading that you could cure it, I purchased a jar of Resinol and a cake of soap. Only a few applications stopped the itching entirely and within a week the redness was gone. The baby's skin was clear. Your Resinol is really wonderful and I will make it to everyone. Charles Grear, 1904 Mow

CHAPEL DEDICATED AT O'FALLON CONVENT

Nuns There Made Vestments Worn by Archbishop and Priests in Ceremony.

Medieval religious pageantry marked the dedication yesterday of a new chapel at the mother house of the Sisters of the Adoration of the Most Precious Blood, in O'Fallon, St. Charles County.

Archbishop Glennon, Bishop Beckmann of Lincoln, Neb., and seven priests assisting in the pontifical high mass wore vestments made at this convent and embroidered in the style of the Middle Ages. The nuns sang acclamations, a very unusual form of chant based on simple tones dating from the Eighteenth Century.

For the first time in the history of the order, which conducts St. Elizabeth's Academy in St. Louis and 31 other schools in this part of the country, virtually all of its 400 members were gathered together. About 125 priests also attended. The outdoor procession of priests and nuns and their ranks of black and white that filled the pews inside, contrasting with the bright decorations and vestments in the sanctuary, presented a striking picture.

March About the Building.

First, the priests and nuns sang on the lawn, then the clergy and boy attendants marched around the chapel walls. They entered, chanting in Latin, followed by the women of the community. Of these, the candidates, girls in simple black, with lace veils, walked first, then the novices in nuns' garb with white linen veils, next the larger group of sisters, wearing black veils and red girths.

Mgr. F. Peltz of Omaha, Neb., delivered a sermon, after the Archbishop had blessed the building. Following the mass the Archbishop spoke and pronounced the papal blessing.

The acclamations, sung at the end by the sisters, hailed Christ as Conqueror, King and Commander, and prayed the well-being of the church, the Pope, the Archbishop, the visiting prelates, the clergy and the devoted people. For the recessional the choir sang "Jubilate Deo," a heartfelt rejoicing in the Lord.

Among the prelates was the Rt. Rev. Philip Ruggie, Abbot of the Benedictine monastery at Conception, Mo.

The new chapel, which cost $170,000 and was designed by Ludwig & Dreisner of St. Louis, is an imposing edifice in early Gothic style, larger than some parish churches. The walls are of plain brick and there are twin spires. The inner finish is of rough, white plaster, with buff stone trim and vaulting in the high roof. The side aisles are under arches. The altar, of marble and mosaic, is sheltered by a gilded baldachin resting on four red marble columns. Eight vertical windows of stained glass light the sanctuary. The pews, of massive oak, carry out the medieval effect.

Vestments Made at Convent.

Twenty of the nuns at the convent have specialized in embroidery and manufacture of vestments, which are supplied to priests all over the country and beyond. They devote their whole time to the work. Father Martin Hellriegel, chaplain of the community, interested the sisters in this about seven years ago, as he is a leader in the liturgical movement within the church.

This movement seeks to return to the spirit of worship of the Middle Ages, instructing the faithful in the meaning of the symbolism and forms of the mass and other services, and demonstrating that these are intended "not for theatrical frills, but religious thrills." The movement turns on the realism of modern ornamentation of vestments, and seeks the firmer character of conventionalized designs known when the church was young. The inspiration goes well back of the Renaissance.

Patterns Sent From Germany. Patterns were obtained by the convent from a monastery at Beuron, Germany. Chasubles, which priests wear at mass, for instance, are cut in full circular form like Christ. Silk damasks and broadened silks are the stuffs used. Altar accessories and banners also are made by these nuns.

The Order of the Precious Blood was founded in Switzerland in 1845, moved to Germany later, sent a few members to teach in the diocese of Alton, Ill., in 1870, and this group, augmented, came to St. Louis in 1872. The next year the mother house was driven from Germany in the Kulturkampf. In 1875 the first building for a new mother house, which still is used, was erected at O'Fallon. The establishment has grown as its teachers went forth, and is recognized now as a papal congregation. The chapel dedication served to celebrate the golden jubilee and several of the nuns present yesterday were there when the band moved to O'Fallon.

Solemn high mass will be said for friends of the convent next Tuesday.

BROTHERS FREED OF ROBBERY
Witnesses Repudiate Identification of John and Paul Cicka.
Charges of highway robbery against John and Paul Cicka, brothers, of Granite City, were dismissed by recommendation of Assistant State's Attorney Roberts of East St. Louis at a preliminary hearing Tuesday after witnesses had repudiated their identification of the men.

The brothers had been accused of the robbery of W. C. Callahan and several employees in his place of business three weeks ago. Five armed bandits escaped with $1100.

After reading your ad in the paper I purchased a jar of Resinol ointment and a cake of Resinol soap. Only a few applications stopped the itching entirely and within a week the redness was gone and his skin practically clear. The itching was really wonderful and I will make it to everyone." County to Buy Motorboat.
The purchase of a $160 motorboat, for use by a deputy of the

St. Louis County Health Commissioner in patrolling the Meramec River to test spring and well water

and investigate sanitary conditions.
was authorized by the St. Louis County Court yesterday.

SHAW'S GARDEN FARM BUYS RIVER FRONT

Gray's Summit Extension Now
1500 Acres, Is Bigger Than Forest Park.

The Gray's Summit extension of Shaw's Garden, near Pacific, Mo., was made larger than Forest Park
yesterday by purchase of a 229-acre farm, increasing the whole area to more than 1500 acres.
The Meramec River now runs through the Gray's Summit garden.
The new acquisition is in a narrow strip along the two-mile river front of the property, on the opposite side from that earlier acquired.

Dr. George T. Moore, director of Shaw's Garden, explained yesterday that the purchase would protect the river from invasion by outing resorts. The fertile bottomland is said to be one of the richest farms in the neighborhood of Pacific.

Two fine specimens of the American chestnut, which Dr.
Moore said were worth $100 each
to the garden, grow on the new property. Many more varieties of native plants and flowers are expected to be found to add to the more than 700 already discovered
in the extension, as botanists complete their search. About 500 acres will be used as a reservation to preserve trees and wild flowers
from the picnic range of the automobile.

Youth Freed of Murder Charge.
By the Associated Press.
PITTSBURGH, Kan., July 23.—
Frank Scott, Arcadia (Kan.) youth, charged with first-degree murder
in connection with the death of Miss Vivian Spradlin, 22 years old,
of Liberal, Mo., April 29, was freed at his preliminary hearing
when a demurrer to the State's evidence was sustained. Judge Robert L. Lemon, in the City Court, held that evidence of the State had been insufficient to prove the crime
charge. According to Scott's story, Miss Spradlin fell from his motor car, suffering a skull fracture from which she died a few hours later.

SUES BANK FOR $10,724

Suit for $10,724 was filed today
against the Broadway Savings Trust Co., 700 North Broadway, by the Perry County Bank of Perryville, Mo., through State Finance Commissioner French, who is directing liquidation of the Perryville bank. The sum, it is charged, represents a deposit in the St. Louis bank which its officers refused to surrender after the Perryville bank failed, Oct. 9, last.

Lambert E. Walther, attorney for the St. Louis bank, stated today that the money was held as protection against loss under a $35,- 000 note signed by owners of the Perryville bank, which has not been paid.

$200,000 Suit to Collect Judgment.
By the Associated Press.
LOS ANGELES, July 23.—Mrs.
Eleanor V. V. Brewster filed suit
here today to enforce a $200,000

judgment she obtained in the York courts last March against Miss Palmer, motion picture star, for alleged theft of the sum of $200,000. The suit was filed since the judgment was not paid. Miss Palmer has lived in wood several years and has also spends much of his time in motion picture city.

FOOD Home Economics GROCERIES

Handle Meat Intelligently And Cook It Carefully

Many Points to Be Remembered in Preparing This Most Popular Article of Food for the Table.

IN EATING of themselves, professional women who are working at domestic science problems themselves specializing in a particular or lesser extent. One woman, for example, will excel and delight in the preparation of meat dishes. On the other hand, will have a special flair for building up the bodies of undernourished children.

This is all very well so far as the domestic aspect goes, where a certain kind of specialization is necessary. The home dietitian, on the other hand, cannot afford to be too much specialized. She must, if she is to make the most of her own kitchen, know all she can about selecting the right foods and preparing them in the most effective manner. What must be done to make foods to make them give the best.

When the home dietitian specializes in fancy cookery, she must have a clear idea of the fundamental processes involved in converting each food element into the most possible material for building and regulating organs.

It is manifestly impossible to do this without touch upon high lights. A few notes on these underlying principles, however, may be of service. Among the points to remember in cooking meat are these:

All meat should be taken from the paper as soon as it is brought into the house. The cleanest paper in the world will draw out some of the fat of meat. When meat is washed it should not be put into water, but wiped with a clean damp cloth. Even a little cold water will draw out these same juices. If the meat is to figure in soup making, then it should be placed in cold water for the very reason indicated above. Choice cuts that admit of being broiled or pan broiled should be seared quickly first on one side and then on the other so as to seal the cut ends of the muscles. This, again, is for the purpose of holding in the valuable extracts. Tough bits of meat, those that come from the less expensive, but equally nourishing portions of the animal, require very long, slow cooking to make them tender.

So much for the A B C's of meat preparation. The truth involved in each suggestion has probably been known to the average housekeeper for a long time. On the other hand, experience has seemed to indicate that unless women know the full truth, the importance of just such simple rules, they are not always careful to observe all of them. One of the other, they may follow, but it takes a completely satisfactory program to produce completely satisfactory results.

Each truth bears a definite relation to the actual food value of the meat.

Mixed Tomato Cocktail.

Take one tomato for each person. One tablespoon corn starch, the same amount of sugar, one-half cup tomato pulp, one tablespoon lemon juice, the same amount of pistachio nuts, the same of parsley, two drops spearmint oil and one-half teaspoon salt.

Slice top from tomato and remove pulp. Cut in eighths to represent petals.

Mix and sift dry ingredients and add to pulp and cook in double boiler until thick and clear. Add lemon juice, chopped parsley and flavoring. Fill each tomato cup, sprinkle with chopped nuts and serve in glasses.

Inside Down Pie.

Deep-dish apple pie or "up-side-down" apple pie is an excellent form of pastry for those to whom pie crust is denied. In making this form of pie first prepare some nicely stewed and lightly sweetened apple sauce. The crust is made from very light baking powder biscuit dough and this may be baked in a biscuit tin. In serving, break irregular shaped pieces from the crust and serve to each person. Pour a generous serving of the apple sauce round the biscuits.

Fried Tomatoes.

Large tomatoes and cut in thick slices. Dip in flour—cover the bottom of frying pan with mazzola and when hot put your tomatoes in and fry a delicate brown. Salt and pepper your tomatoes when cooked. You can dip the tomatoes in egg and cracker dust, or cornmeal instead of flour if you wish.

Blackberry Delight.

Turn two-thirds lemon jelly mixture in border mold, first dipped in cold water, and when mixture begins to stiffen garnish with blackberries, and add remaining mixture. Chill thoroughly, remove from mold to serving dish, and fill center with blackberries.

Stuffed Beets.

Cut large beets in halves, scoop out the pulp, and place the shells in vinegar for two hours. Mix chopped cucumber, tomato and celery with mayonnaise. Fill shells with the mixture. Serve on lettuce.

*Indicates that recipes for dishes so marked in above menus may be found in "Planning Menus for the Coming Week" or in "Recipes for Dishes in the Week."

Jellied Chicken.

Dress, clean and cut up a fowl. Put in a stewpan with two slices onion, cover with boiling water and cook slowly until meat falls from bones. When half cooked, add one-half tablespoonful salt. Remove chicken, reduce stock to two cups, strain, skim off fat, and add one tablespoonful gelatin, soaked in a tablespoonful cold water. Decorate bottom of a mold with parsley and slices of hard-boiled eggs, peas, slices of pilonolas or peppers. Pack in meat, freed from skin and bone, and sprinkle with salt and pepper. Pour on stock, and place mold under heavy weight. Keep in a cold place until firm. Canned chicken may be used if desired.

Molded Tomatoes.

Put a border mold in pan of ice water. Dip chilled slices of hard-boiled eggs in one-half tablespoonful of gelatin, soaked in one-half tablespoonful cold water and dissolved over hot water. Line mold with slices, holding each in place until it becomes set; then fill mold with tomato jelly mixture and chill. Remove from mold and fill center with crisp lettuce leaves. Accompany with mayonnaise or boiled salad dressing.

Use for Tomatoes.

Hot meat sandwiches, either on plain bread or toast, are given a distinctive touch by the addition of a slice or broiled tomato on top and a sauce made of the meat gravy flavored with chili sauce. Chopped beefsteak, made into a thin cake, broiled and used for such a hot sandwich, is well suited to the tomato garnish and savory sauce.

PLANNING MENUS FOR THE COMING WEEK

Family Health Depends Upon Nourishing Food and Balanced Meals.

SINCE for several weeks the diet plan has been to cut down materially the serving of cereal, we are this week returning to this standard breakfast dish. It will be noted that at three of the seven breakfasts ready prepared cereal is served; that two mornings offer hot cooked cereal.

The popular and wholesome vegetable plate appears twice this week and there is an attempt to vary its general composition by the introduction of hominy croquettes. It is a good plan on days when a vegetable dinner is served to begin the meal with a cream of vegetable soup and to have a more or less nourishing salad, such as that of cottage cheese.

The individual fruit shortcake is delicious when made from tiny baking powder biscuits and served with nicely stewed or crushed and sweetened blackberries or blueberries. One secret about success with these midsummer shortcakes is to see that plenty of butter is used in making the biscuits; that tiny bits of butter are dotted on the hot crust after baking and that fruit filling has an abundance of juice.

In preparing individual chicken pies for the Wednesday luncheon, shredded left-over chicken is mixed with a carefully made creamy gravy, and to this gravy are added tiny onions cooked until very tender and bits of very tender carrots, also a little flaked boiled rice.

If pastry is used for the crust, tiny bits of potato are also added to the interior of the pie. If, on the other hand, the individual pie is served with potato crust, this vegetable is omitted from the center.

Special care has been taken to vary the breakfast fruit each day, although melons are represented four times during the week. Every one realizes the importance of fruit

TRY FRAPPED FRUIT FOR COMPANY DINNER

Frozen Desserts Add to the Attractiveness of Company Meal.

ROZEN dairies add to the attractiveness of the summer dinner. If the housewife desires to have a frappe for dinner here are several recipes, any one of which will make a delicious dessert.

Chocolate Frappe.

Dissolve four squares of chocolate in one quart hot water. Add one cup sugar and boil five minutes. Strain, and when cold flavor with one teaspoon of vanilla. Freeze to a soft mush. Serve with whipped cream.

Peach Frappe.

One quart peaches mashed through a sieve, one pint cream, two eggs well beaten, two quarts milk, sugar to taste. Put in freezer and freeze same as you would ice cream.

Fruit Frappe.

Fill individual molds one-third full with fruit. Beat half pint cream until stiff, sweeten and flavor to taste and put gently on top of fruit. Cover each mold with a double thickness of heavy wax paper and hold in place with a rubber band. In a pan or tin make a layer of equal parts finely crushed ice and rock salt. Place the molds on this; carefully surround with the mixture of ice and salt and cover the top. Leave for hour or longer, and unmold on dessert plate.

In the diet. It is one of the most delicious ways of introducing alkaline foods with the diet. While no one in the family may be suffering from excessive acid in the system, the fact remains that the average individual is usually the better for excluding a generous supply of alkaline foods in his daily diet.

Canned Fish and Shellfish Are Wholesome Foods

By ROYAL S. COPELAND, M. D.
United States Senator From New York,
Former Commissioner of Health, New York City.

ONE of the great industries of the United States is the canning of fish, the output of such products being valued at a little less than $100,000,000. Particular reference was made to the salmon pack. It stated that there was a slight decrease in quantity, but this was more than made up for by the increase in value of the product.

The California sardine and tuna production is said to be steadily increasing. The Maine sardine production remains about as it has been for several years past. Canned oysters showed a larger production, although the pack of clams was a little below level. Canned shrimps showed a great increase in the quantity of the product.

One of the remarkable advances of modern times is the dependence placed upon the canned food products. I refer particularly to fish and meat prepared in this way. From earliest times we have depended upon canned vegetables and canned fruits. In the olden days, however, almost the only way of preserving fish was by pickling. They were immersed in casks of brine and kept in this manner.

With the advance of modern times, fish and shell fish are carefully prepared and preserved. They come to the table almost in their original flavor and certainly in all their original excellence.

One of the problems of the future is to make sure of an unceasing supply of protein food. The proteins are the elements which repair and build the body. Our muscles, cells and fibers would not amount to much without protein

Mixed Fruit Coupe.

Mix one-half cup each shredded pineapple and sections of oranges, cut in pieces, and one-fourth cup thin slices of bananas, cut in pieces. Add two tablespoonfuls powdered sugar and a few grains salt. Cover and let stand in icebox until thoroughly chilled. Arrange fruit in eight coupe glasses and fill with strawberry ice. Garnish each with whipped cream, sweetened and flavored with vanilla, forced through a pastry bag and tube, and five selected strawberries.

Always keep a few cans of Carnation Milk on hand. Then you will be ready for every milk need—every hour of every day—Sundays, holidays, or after the stores have closed.

You couldn't ask for finer milk. Carnation is the freshest, purest dairy-farm milk, evaporated to double richness, and "homogenized" to give every drop an equal share of the double helping of cream. It's better than bottled milk for cooking.

You will like Carnation in place of cream, too—and it will cut two-thirds off your cream bill. Ask your grocer for Carnation.

MILWAUKEE

When purchasing malt syrup, the great name of "Blatz" protects you; because since 1851, it has been a public guarantee for malt products of unsurpassed quality. This is very important, because the demand for Blatz Bohemian Malt Syrup has resulted in many inferior brands being placed on the market. They look practically the same as an all-malt product, but the difference is apparent when you try to use them.

Blatz is not a "local malt", made and sold in one town, it is the standard brand all over the United States. It is purer, richer, thicker and better in every way.

More sold than any other brand.

RECIPES FOR DISHES IN WEEK'S MENUS

Use of New Recipes Gives Pleasing Variation to Family Meal.

Vegetable Stew.
ONE head of lettuce, six or seven carrot, one bunch asparagus, few grains pepper, two cups chicken or lamb or beef broth, one teaspoon salt, one teaspoon sugar, three cups green peas. Melt the butter and add the sliced lettuce stirring until blended. Slice the carrots lengthwise and add these with the peas and the chopped asparagus. Then add the sugar, salt, pepper and broth. Place in a covered soup kettle and cook slowly for an hour.

Chocolate Bread Pudding.
One and one-half squares bitter chocolate, two tablespoons butter, one pint milk, one-half teaspoon vanilla, one cup sugar, one-quarter teaspoon salt, three eggs. The bread crumbs should be added to the chocolate, sugar and cold milk, keeping out one-half cup. Place in a double boiler and cook until it forms a smooth paste. Combine the beaten egg yolks with the half cup of milk which has been kept out, and the salt and combine these mixtures. Cook again until thick. Then add vanilla and place in a buttered baking dish in a moderate oven for 20 minutes. Make a meringue with the stiffly beaten egg whites and when the pudding is slightly cool spread this mixture on top. Brown the meringue in a moderate oven for about eight minutes. Serve cold.

To make the meringue combine the whites of the eggs with one-quarter of a cup of powdered sugar beating all the while. Cut and fold in another one-quarter of a cup of powdered sugar and add one-half teaspoon of vanilla. Macaroni Baked With Cheese and Tomatoes.

One of the most interesting points about this dish is the fact that it offers opportunity for considerable variation. The conventional way to prepare it is to cook the macaroni in boiling salted water and to place it in a baking dish with plenty of tomato sauce to cover. On top is a layer of grated crumbs alternated with grated cheese.

A good variation is to blend the grated cheese smoothly in the hot strained tomato liquid. This is done by adding a few spoonfuls at a time stirring constantly so that there are no lumps. Such a procedure undoubtedly makes the cheese more digestible than is the case when it is cooked as a top layer directly under the flame.

Another variation is to omit the tomato sauce and to substitute thickened milk or white sauce. The method of procedure with the cheese is precisely the same and the results are equally satisfactory.

Johnny Cake.
This is an old-fashioned form of corn bread and is made by mixing one cup of cornmeal with three-quarters of a teaspoon of salt, one cup of flour, one-quarter of a cup of sugar and five teaspoons of baking powder. These dried materials are sifted after being combined and are then mixed with a cup of milk in which a beaten egg has been stirred. Two tablespoons of butter are then added and the batter is beaten until smooth and baked in a buttered biscuit tin. The oven should be hot and the corn bread baked for about 20 minutes. One word of caution should be added. Different grades of flour take up different quantities of moisture and if the batter seems too stiff add a little more milk. Testing with the mixing spoon will show an experienced cook how much more liquid to add.

Spinach and Eggs.
Six rounds of toast, six eggs, chopped ham, spinach, paprika. Cover each round of toast with spinach one-half inch deep at the edges and hollow in the center. Drop an egg into each and cook in the oven until the eggs are firm. Sprinkle with paprika and garnish with chopped ham.

Spinach Timbales.
Use one and one-half cups cooked spinach, four eggs, one-half teaspoon salt, one-eighth teaspoon paprika and one and one-fourth cups milk. Chop cooked spinach; add slightly beaten eggs with seasonings and milk and mix well. Bake in buttered mold set in pan of water. In moderate oven. When firm, turn from mold and serve with—

Summer Canape.
As the base of each canape use a slice of canned pineapple. Cover with a slice of Sunkist orange and next a layer of sliced bananas. Sprinkle with minced mint cherries and serve with lemon juice and sugar.

Pineapple Frappe.
Boil together for five minutes one cup sugar and two cups water. Take off stove and let partially cool. Then add juice of two lemons, two cups water and two cups of crushed pineapple. Cool, strain and freeze to a mush.

Glazed Carrots.
Wash, scrape and cook five medium size carrots and cut in thin slices. Into an omelet pan put two tablespoons butter; melt, add two tablespoons sugar; add the sliced carrots and stir until well browned. Set on warming shelf.

Chesse Sauce.
For chesse sauce, take one and one-half tablespoons butter, the same amount of flour, one cup of milk, one-half teaspoon salt, one-eighth teaspoon pepper and one-fourth cup grated cheese. Melt butter, add flour and when well blended add milk and seasonings. Cook until thickened. Remove from fire and add grated cheese.

In all walks of life—among those who toil and sweat as well as among those who work with their minds only—Buckeye is the favorite. On this basis it was recently selected by a prominent chain store as the only brand it will handle. Laboratory tests proved too, that a 2 1/2 pound can of Buckeye is to be preferred to a 3 pound can of ordinary malt.

COFFEE AND COCOA NOW SERVED ICED

Epicures Have Transformed
 Hot Breakfast Beverages
 Into Iced Drinks.

THE average grown person craves a cold drink of something substantial as an accompaniment to the meal. For this reason iced tea, iced coffee and iced cocoa or iced chocolate are becoming more popular as the summer advances. While these iced foods and drinks have been heretofore confined to the restaurants
 and hotels, the average housewife
 will have little difficulty in serving coffee, tea and chocolate iced instead of hot.

Simple directions for making these iced drinks follow:

Iced Tea.
 1. Pour cold water over tea and let stand for five hours. Chill and serve with ice and lemon slices.
 This method makes a very delicately flavored tea.

2. Pour 1 1/2 quarts of boiling water over one tablespoon tea and four mint leaves and let brew three minutes. Chill and serve with cubes of ice and fresh mint leaves or a slice of orange.

Iced Chocolate.
 For this delicious drink take two squares of bitter chocolate, three tablespoons sugar, one-half cup water, two cups evaporated milk or sweet milk.

Shave chocolate fine, mix with 1/4 cup water and heat over a low flame. Heat diluted milk to the scalding point in a double boiler,
 add chocolate and sugar, and stir until blended. Continue cooking in a double boiler for 10 minutes. Cool and serve in tall glasses with chipped ice.

Iced Cocoa.
 Use three tablespoons cocoa, the same amount of sugar, one-half cup

hot water, two cups milk, one teaspoon vanilla and a few grains of salt.

Scald the diluted milk in a double boiler. Mix cocoa, sugar and salt and add the hot water. Cook over a low flame from 10 to 15 minutes, stirring occasionally to prevent burning. Add to the cocoa the scalded milk; return to the double boiler and continue cooking for 10 minutes. Chill and serve with chipped ice. Whip cream and chopped nuts may top iced cocoa and give it an increased energy and nutrient value.

Make the required amount of strong coffee. Allow it too cool.
 Pour off from grounds and set in ice-box until ready to serve. Pour into tall glasses filled with cracked
 ice. Serve with either thick cream, whipped cream or a spoonful of vanilla ice cream.

Iced Postum.
 Dissolve 8 level teaspoonfuls of Postum in half a cup of boiling water.

Mix with three and one-half tall glasses of cold milk.

Sugar to taste, and serve with a little cracked ice.
 This is a sufficient quantity for four tall glasses. The attractiveness is increased by putting a tablespoonful of whipped cream on the top of each glassful—or beating into the drink, with an eggbeater, a heaping tablespoonful of vanilla ice cream for each glassful. If ice cream is used, no cracked ice is needed.

Russian Salad.

Arrange on a cold platter separate groups of cooked cold meats,
 chicken, lamb, pork, veal and sausage. Place sardines between groups. Garnish with lettuce and sliced hard cooked eggs. Serve with a Russian mayonnaise which is made by adding to every cup of mayonnaise one-half cup each of finely chopped green and red peppers and one-half a cup of chopped stuffed olives. One-quarter of a cup of chili sauce makes a nice addition if that flavor is desired.

PLUMS ARE IDEAL FOR JAM AND JELLY

Various Ways Suggested for Putting Up These Home Products.

THE market is offering the large blue plum for preserves, jams and jellies. While this large blue plum or prune comes to market a bit earlier than our red jelly plum, the same recipes may be used for both type of plums as well as for our local damson plum, which also comes to market a bit later in the season.

Several recipes are offered for putting up plums at home.
Ripe Plum Jam.
Take four level cups of crushed plums, one-half cup water, seven and one-half cups sugar and one-half cup liquid pectin.
Do not peel, but slice fruit, pit and crush well. Measure fruit into large kettle, add water and stir until boiling. Cover kettle and simmer fruit 15 minutes. Add sugar and mix well. Use hottest fire and stir constantly before and while boiling. Bring to a full rolling boil and let boil hard for one minute. Remove from fire and stir in liquid pectin. Skim jam, pour quickly into jars and cover hot jam immediately with hot melted paraffin.

Canned Plums.
(Cold-Pack Method.)
Wash plums, pierce with a fork and pack firmly into clean jars. Make a syrup by boiling together sugar and water in the proportion of one cup sugar to one and one-half cups water for five minutes after the boiling point is reached.

Fill jars to neck with boiling syrup, place scalded rubber in position and adjust lid loosely. Process 16 minutes.
If oven method is used, place jars in pan, set pan on rack in oven in same position as for baking, then set heat regulator at 250 degrees, light oven and process hour for quarts, 40 minutes for pints.

Plum Marmalade.
Take the plums before they are wholly ripe. Cover with boiling water and let them boil slowly until they are thoroughly cooked. Put them through a wire strainer. Measure pulp and add an equal amount of sugar. For each pint of pulp add twice of lemon, teaspoon cinnamon and 1/4 teaspoon mace. Return to heat and simmer until the sugar is thoroughly dissolved.

Turn into sterilized jars or glasses. If jelly glasses are used, cover with paraffine when cool.
Plum Butter.
Wash the fruit thoroughly. Cut in pieces, but do not remove skins or stones. Cover with cold water, bring to boiling point and cook until soft. Then rub through a coarse sieve. Measure the pulp and to each quart allow three cups sugar. Return to heat; simmer until thick and store in sterilized jars.

The resourceful hostess is always prepared for any occasion with College Inn Chicken a la King, Welsh Rarebit and Chop Suey

YOU know how "emergencies" arise for the housekeeper; a group of friends, often urged to "drop in and see us when you're driving by," suddenly take you at your word, without notice.

You're glad to see them, too; you give them a hearty welcome; you urge them to come in and stay awhile. But you can't help sending an anxious thought to the kitchen, wondering if it's safe to urge them to take a meal with you.

Your preparations may be made for a quiet family dinner, and four or five extra guests do present a problem.

If your pantry is stocked with these College Inn Foods, you need have no fears at all. You'll put before your guests the most delicious viands they could possibly ask for. They may wonder how you did it; and maybe you'll tell them the secret. If you want to take the credit, for yourself or your cook, you can do that.

It will be "some credit," because these College Inn foods are the product of recipes devised by the expert chefs of Chicago's famous College Inn in the great Hotel Sherman; known all over the world.

College Inn Chicken a la King—The chickens are specially selected; the mushrooms are fresh grown; the pimentos and peppers are the best we can find; and the cream sauce is a masterpiece.

College Inn Chop Suey—Here's a dish that we Westerners had to be taught to make; but nobody has to be taught to eat it. We've beaten the Chinese at their own game, though the sauce is special, brought to us from the Orient.

College Inn Welsh Rarebit—You may know how to make a good Welsh Rarebit yourself; there are some who do. But it isn't always that you have the right ingredients in the house. Our chefs know how, too; and they always have just the right nippy Cheddar cheese, the new cream cheese to blend with it, and the right spices; and they certainly know how to put them together in a rarebit.

Be sure that you have a well stocked pantry with these distinctive College Inn Foods. Your grocer will supply you promptly.

EXTENSION OF HIGHER PHONE RATES SOUGHT

Southwestern Bell Co. Makes Application to Maintain Business Phone Increase.

The Southwestern Bell Telephone
Co. today filed, with the State Public Service Commission, an application for indefinite extension of the increase in St. Louis business telephone rates, which was granted
July 1, 1925, for a period of 13 months ending Aug. 1.

It submitted to the commission
a report of its operations for 11 months under the increased rates.
The telephone company contends that the valuation of $24,700,000
on its St. Louis property, set by the commission at the time when the increase was granted, was inadequate, and does not represent the real value of its property in use in St. Louis.

The return derived by the company from its rates, since the granting of the increase, has been 3.15 per cent on a valuation arrived at by adding the net additions made since July 1 of last year, the company states.

While the company states that its returns under the increased rates have been inadequate, it does not indicate whether, if the increase is made permanent, it will apply for a further increase.

The telephone company holds that the commission's valuation of $24,700,000, which is as of Dec. 31, 1924, should be increased by adding $5,240,000 for improvements
since that date, making a total valuation of $29,940,000.

Earnings for the 11 months up to June 1 last, the company states, were $9,040,424, and expenses were $6,802,509. This leaves a balance available for depreciation and return of $2,237,915 or for one year $2,441,034. This amount is 8.15 per cent on the valuation of $29,940,- 000, and deducting 5 per cent for depreciation the return is shown as 3.15 per cent.

The increase was granted by the commission June 6, 1925, and the petition of the City of St. Louis and the Chamber of Commerce, for a rehearing or suspension of the increase order, were not granted.
The increase was about 25 per cent
over the previous business telephone rates, and it was estimated that it would yield the company $894,000 a year additional revenue.
No provision was made for a refund, and the increased rate has now been in force for more than a year.

In allowing the increase, the commission held that the company was entitled to 5 per cent for depreciation and 7 per cent net return. The company, at that time, contended for a valuation of $30,- 000,000, instead of the $24,700,000 allowed by the commission. The City of St. Louis demanded a full valuation of the Bell property here,
but this was denied by the Commission, which did not have the funds which it would have had to advance for the cost, though this would have been repaid later by the company.

It is understood by the Public Service Commission the company is not disposed at present to seek any increase in residence telephone rates in St. Louis, unless the legal department of the City of St. Louis revives its demand for a full valuation and appraisal of the St. Louis exchange. If the company is brought into a full valuation proceeding, which would cost probably $200,000 or more, it likely would carry the case through the courts
if necessary, to obtain a valuation satisfactory to the company. Any material increase in valuation
would be likely to result in rate increases, based upon the rate of return shown on the present valuation, under existing rates.

MOSCOW, July 23.—With honors paralleled only by those accrued to Lenin, the body of Felix Dzerzhinsky, chairman of the Supreme Council of National Economy and once head of Russia's much feared secret police,
was buried last night in the revolutionary martyr's cemetery, just outside Lenin's mausoleum in Red square.

As dusk fell, while the entire population passed 10 minutes,
the coffin was carried by bearers
from the mausoleum through the crowded and flag-draped streets. In the cortege were thousands of government officials, workers, representatives of the communist party, the red army
and the trades unions and Boy Scouts carrying crepe-fringed banners.

While bands played the revolutionary "Dead March," the coffin,
with the lid removed, was placed on a catafalque draped with red and black in front of Lenin's tomb. The bier was low enough to enable the crowds to get a close view of the face.

Troops Bar the Streets.
As approaches to Red Square
a distance of five blocks were closed by troops, but this measure was scarcely necessary as the crowd was only one-tenth the size of that at Lenin's funeral. The cortege moved on the catafalque for half an hour while several soviet officials extolled the militant qualities of the dead commissar.
Speeches were broadcast by radio.

During the afternoon there was no funeral, but just as sunset was raised to the dais
and broke through the clouds,
the planes of the Kremlin tower,
the immense double eagles and Christian crosses, touched by brilliant rays, gleamed like symbols.

The conclusion of the cortege was removed from the catafalque while the lid was uncovered and stood at attention. At this moment Mme.
Dzerzhinsky, widow of the Com-missar, swooned, but she soon recovered and followed the body.
She had worn a final baptism to be adorned by friends for his funeral and declared by his last words to have been responsible for

MUSSOLINI REPLACES 'LIBERTY OR DEATH' WITH 'CO-OPERATION OR POVERTY'

Exalts State Control of Individuals, Economic as Well as Political, as Cure for Internal Ills That Rack Europe.

By the Associated Press.

ROME, July 23.—Premier Mussolini, watching with keen interest
the difficulties besetting Europe, believes no international crisis brewing exists, but that a grave internal and economic struggle, wracking the nations separately, is in progress. He has firm faith that Europe will emerge into a period of stability, but that sacrifices will be necessary.
"Tell the people of America," he said, "that Europe is traversing a period of acute-most acute-crisis, but that I have firm faith
that she will overcome her difficulties. Afterward I am convinced that she will have a period of stabilization and peace."

"Make it clear, however, that the grave crisis of which I speak is not international, that it has nothing to do with the relations between nations and hence in no
sense brings up the specter of war.
It is an internal crisis that is wracking the various nations separately, not their political lives, but their economic and social organizations. It is pre-eminently social. I am confident that the nations will solve it, but to do so all the people of Europe must use all their energy and must be prepared to make every sacrifice in the cause of peace and stability."

Premier Mussolini received the correspondent in his lofty ceilinged office in the Chigi Palace. He first engaged in a light friendly conversation shifting from Italian to French, German and English all of which he spoke with fluency.
When he began to speak of the European situation, however, a transformation came. He strained forward in his high backed chair,
his eyes blazing with fervor and his right hand punctuating with sharp gestures his short incisive sentences.

In Praise of Fascism.
Asked whether he considered Fascism a pioneer political movement which might be copied by other nations as a solution of their difficulties, he gave an eloquent outline of the movement he is leading. Italy, he said, is creating a new type of state. Among the striking sentences in his exposition
were these:

"Liberty or death was a fine
phrase, but co-operation or poverty
is more accurate now." "Fascism replaces individual sovereignty by state sovereignty. The nation is the individual." "Even the most ardent defenders of the liberal-
democratic movement cannot be so
blind as not to see its decay."

Fascism, he thinks, has given an example to the world by solving
the problem of the modern world,
namely the restoration of the authority of the state and the elimination of international social struggles, notably the class war.

"Precisely because Italy is the last of the great Powers to arrive at maturity," he said, "she is the first to build a truly modern state.
As no nation escapes the effects of the French Revolution, none can fail to be influenced by our reawakening."

"Liberalism, as a theory of democracy and as a method of government, was based upon certain
more or less transitory social, psychological and economic conditions
which have changed or disappeared, leaving no justification for the 'immortal' principles of the French Revolution."

"Fascism, on the other hand, is hewing close to the line of the in-extinguishable movement of history
and is building for the future as well as the present. Even the most ardent defenders of the liberal-
democratic movement cannot be so
blind as not to see its decay."

Italy's Situation.

"Italy, alone among the great nations of Europe, is not torn by wasteful and dangerous political crisis or ruinous strikes and lockouts. While other nations are trying to struggle along with a type of state organization, obviously unfitted to present conditions—mending and patching as they go—we are marching unflinchingly towards a glorious future.

"The most significant fact is that our success is positive. We are not leaving problems for tomorrow, but are facing and solving them today. We have learned how to insure the participation of all types and classes of citizens and how to keep their confidence, respect and obedience, which are the cornerstones of a successful
state."

Anti-Individualist Creed.

"One most important innovation of the functions of the state and the incorporation within the state of all forces of production. The doctrine of popular sovereignty,
with its corollary of the individual's superiority over the state, had to be superseded because it was false, but more importantly because it was an anachronism in a world like ours of close social and economic interdependence in which the individual virtually is lost outside of the group. Liberty or death was a fine phrase, but cooperation or poverty is more accurate."

"Under the old system individuals were able to render the state
impotent by refusal to co-operate.
Having postulated the inherent right to liberty of the individual,
the state no longer had the authority necessary for control. Fascism rejects the idea that the state is an accidental and temporary grouping of individuals and affirms that it is a living, organic entity, continued from generation to generation, with a tangible, physical, moral, spiritual and cultural patrimony."

The State Above All.
"No single generation, no group
of citizens and still less no single citizen, has the right to militate against the nation. The state is the guardian and controlling agent of the nation. It cannot be the mercy and whims of politicians, fluctuating from year to year in accord with the moods of a few men who happen, through the vicissitudes of universal suffrage, to be invested with authority."

"Fascism replaces individual sovereignty by state sovereignty. The nation for the individual. By maintaining its authority, it protects the nation, affording liberty as a concession to individuals as long as they act in harmony with the interests of the state. Even more important is our destruction of class
self-defense."

Directing Economic Life.
"Until the advent of Fascism it was assumed that the organization of the economic life of the nation
lay outside the province of the state. It was an erroneous idea arising from the circumstance that the present type of industrial development grew up after the functions of the liberal democratic state
had been defunct."

"Our new type of state, is the first to repair their blunder. We have solved the problem for ourselves and perhaps for the world
by incorporating into the state all forces of production. The class war is finished."

labor strike is more excusable than insurrection. Labor and capital have equal rights and duties
and their offenses are punished.
Labor organizations, in fact, all organizations of a public character affecting the interests of the nation, can exist only insofar as they are inserted directly or indirectly into the tissue of the state. The absurdity of permitting the constant threat of economic civil war
is ruled out."

MAJORITY FOR HAWES IN BOONE COUNTY LIKELY

Well-Informed Democrat Says St. Louisian Probably Will Win There by 1000 or More.

SOME OPPOSITION
BUT UNORGANIZED

Similar Situation in Calla-way and Other Communities in Dryest Section
of State.

By CURTIS A. BETTS,
A Staff Correspondent of the Post-Dispatch.

COLUMBIA, Mo., July 23.—
Early in the summer of 1922 I asked probably the best informed Democrat in Boone County what he considered the relative strength of Senator Reed and Breckinridge Long was in Boone County. He replied that Long would carry the county over Reed by approximately 500 votes.

Doubting, at the time, that his opinion was sound, I said: "If Long can't carry a county like Boone by more than 500, Reed is going to carry the State."

"Yes," he replied. "I think that is what will happen." Long carried Boone County by 461 and Reed carried the State by nearly 10,000.
Today I asked his opinion of the Democratic senatorial situation in Boone County.

Hawes Probable Majority.
"I think Hawes will carry the county," he replied. "Probably his majority will not be large, but Boone County is one of the very dryest counties in the State, and if he carries it at all he should sweep
the State."

"There may be some slight question that Hawes will get the majority in Boone County, though I do not think so. I would rather say that Hawes' majority probably will depend upon how Hawes' friends here act. So far the opposition to Hawes, which is a better way of putting it than to say
the support of Cockrell, is unorganized and has done nothing. If Hawes' friends just keep quiet and refrain from stirring up the opposition, Hawes' majority here
might reach a figure of some size.
It might go as high as 1,000 or more."

On the other hand, if the Hawes
people become too active there might be a fight which would result in a very close decision for Hawes in this county."

Conditions in Callaway.
This view fits in very well with information gathered in Callaway
County and from other sources in Boone County, though from no
other Democrat of wide knowledge of conditions was there any indication that Hawes was in even the slightest danger of losing any of the strong Democratic counties
north of the Missouri River, understanding all are considered very dry.

If there is any material progression in the Hawes campaign in these counties, it is not in evidence,
though there is a well defined opposition to Hawes. But from many sources comes the information that many Democrats who feel that they cannot vote for Hawes because of his position in favor of liberalization of the Volstead act,
will not vote at all on the Senatorship.

Interest in Judgeship.
This feeling exists notwithstanding that a number of Hawes' supporters principally those who were ardent supporters of Senator Reed
in 1922, are actively working for the nomination of Gantt's opponent, Col. Carl Ristine of Lexington.
Because of the growing disposition of Democrats to vote for Hawes not to vote on the senatorship in the primary, the vote in these north of the river Democratic Counties may be light on the candidates for the senatorial nomination, although there will be an unusually heavy primary vote up to this year. This will be due to the many candidates for nominations for nearly all county offices,
a condition which exists in all these counties in which Democratic nominations for county offices are equivalent to election.

In Callaway county there are 20 candidates for the nomination for County Collector alone, and in Boone county there are 12. It is expected the total vote in Boone County will be in excess of 8000.

New Administration Building of St. Louis Medical Society

—By a Post-Dispatch staff photographer.

THIS building has just been completed—an attractive addition to the group of fine structures on Lindell boulevard between Vandeventer avenue and Grand boulevard.

Offices and the 25,000-volume library of the society will be moved into the new building next week from the present quarters at 3525 West Pine boulevard. The administration building will serve as a place for meetings until an auditorium, which is to be built in the rear, is completed.

The construction of the auditorium, to cost $170,000, began this week and is to be finished by Dec. 31. The administration building and the site at 3839 Lindell boulevard, east of Moolah Temple, cost $200,000. Funds were raised by subscriptions of members and several large gifts. The largest gift was $50,000 by Mrs. Sarah L. G. Wilson in memory of her brothers, Drs. Frank and William Glasgow. Construction of the administration building began May 19 last year, and the cornerstone was laid by Mrs. Wilson the following July 16.

CANDIDATE IS "DRY," BUT KEEP IT QUIET"

Anti-Saloon League Letter
Read at Meetings in Tenth Congressional District.

Joseph C. Schroeder, one of the five candidates for the Republican nomination for Congress in the Tenth District, is reading at his campaign meetings a letter written by the Rev. Parker Shields, superintendent of the Antisaloon League of Missouri, saying that another of the candidates, Walter F. Schelp, would surely be defeated "if it became known he could be depended upon by the dry forces," because of "conditions" in the district.

The Tenth District includes all of St. Louis County and some of the western part of St. Louis and is regarded as wet.

"Schelp is a deacon in the Webster Groves Presbyterian Church," the letter said, "and comes of a dry ancestry." It continued: "You may make it known among your personal friends but do not give any other publicity to it or it may result in his defeat. He is the safest candidate for Congress in your district and we have every reason to believe that he will stand for a dry legislation."

The Rev. Mr. Shields explained today that the letter, dated July 13, was written in response to a request from a group of girls at a Grand boulevard church who were going to vote for the first time in this primary. He declared his league was endorsing no one in the Tenth District.

Schroeder and the three other candidates are running on wet platforms, but Schelp's platform reads: "The Volstead act should be modified to permit the manufacture and sale of beverages containing a higher alcoholic content than now is the case, and this excess content over the present one-half of 1 per cent should be heavily taxed."

Not a Drinking Man.
Schelp has refused to state his position on the liquor question. Schroeder has charged. Today Schelp said he had answered this by outlining his platform in speeches. He is unwilling to have the Eighteenth amendment removed from the Constitution.

Declaring he did not think the letter would hurt his candidacy, he said: "I have never been a drinking man, but I'm neither a wet nor a dry. I would do as my constituents say; if the people voted wet in any referendum, I'd vote wet in Congress."

Speaks for Judge Cockrell.
LAMONTE, Mo., July 23.—William Ewing Kemp, a Kansas City attorney and a former resident of Lamonte, spoke here last night in the interest of the candidacy of Judge Ewing Cockrell for the United States senatorial nomination on the Democratic ticket.

SEEKS TO DEPORT WOMAN FOR MORAL TURPITUDE

Department of Justice, Balked by Alleged Bigamist, to Get Supreme Court Ruling.

WASHINGTON, July 23.—The Department of Justice has decided to seek a Supreme Court ruling on whether moral turpitude is grounds for deportation. Recalling the case of Countess Cathcart, who defeated efforts of the Government to exclude here on these grounds, a new case has developed in Michigan on which Attorney-General Sargent will seek a decision. There the Labor Department tried to deport Rosa Avann of Detroit because of moral turpitude. The courts, however, granted her a writ of habeas corpus. Immigration authorities declare she has admitted she is married to an Englishman and an American at the same time.

DETROIT, Mich., July 23.—Rosa Avann, according to Immigration authorities here, admitted she married Sidney Avann in England in 1911 and left him a few years later, going to Canada and later entering the United States under an assumed name, declaring she was unmarried. A few months later she married Ralph McCormick, a citizen of the United States. In 1922 she returned to Canada, later re-entering the United States. The Immigration authorities then instituted deportation proceedings, alleging she is guilty of bigamy.

DENIED INJUNCTION TO CLOSE FAIR, CHURCHMEN TO APPEAL

Philadelphia Judge Says Bill of Equity Isn't Proper Method;
10 New Warrants Issued.

PHILADELPHIA, July 23.—Thomas D. Taylor, chairman of the Methodist Men's Committee of 100, announced today that an appeal from the Common Pleas Judge Finletter's decision refusing to grant an injunction restraining the Sequen-tennial Exposition from operating on Sundays would be made to the State Supreme Court.

In dismissing the injunction suit yesterday, Judge Finletter remarked that the blue law of 1794 was violated at the exposition by the sale of merchandise on Sundays, but that a bill in equity, requested by the Methodist Committee, was the wrong legal procedure. He pointed out that it was the duty of the police to enforce the law, or else have the State Legislature amend it.

E. L. Austin, director general of the exposition, announced that all amusements would be free on Sundays.

While the injunction hearing was in progress, 10 new warrants for the arrest of exposition employees were issued on evidence gathered by members of the Methodist Committee, who visited the exposition last Sunday.

POLAND REPORTS SOVIET PLOT Details Kept Secret, but 100 Per- sons Are Arrested.

WARSAW, Poland, July 23.—The police report they have discovered in Galicia a Ukrainian organization working both for Germany and the soviet government. One hundred persons have been arrested in Cracow, Lvoff and Przemyel, most of them university students or Ukrainians serving in the Polish army.

WITHDRAWAL LIMIT FOR CANDIDATES 9 P. M.

After That Hour Tonight All Names on Election Board's List Go on Ballot.

Candidates who have found the going so hard they are discouraged, or so easy that they have lost interest, have their last opportunity today to get out of the primary race. The time for withdrawals will end at 9 o'clock tonight, and all the names that remain on the Election Board's list then will go on the official ballot for the primary, Aug. 3.

Of the 474 candidates who filed on all tickets for the primary, 41 had withdrawn up to this morning. Some of the withdrawals came in time to keep the names from being printed in the sample ballots printed in the newspapers as advertising. Others have come more recently.

Some of Withdrawals.
Candidates who have withdrawn from contests for the more important nominations include Richard F. Ralph, Republican, for Congress from the Tenth District; Seibert G. Jones and Alex R. A. Gerschke, Republicans, for Prosecuting Attorney; Frank B. Grodzki, Republican, for Judge Court of Criminal Correction; W. O. Atkeson from the Republican nomination contest, and Ewing Cockrell and W. H. Meredith from the Democratic senatorial contests for short and long terms, respectively. The Cockrell-Meredith withdrawals differ from the others in that the candidates remain in the race, Cockrell running only for the long term and Meredith only for the short term.

Withdrawals received by the Election Board, since the sample ballots were printed, are:

Republicans—Ray Bud White, from contest for Alderman, Twenty-eighth Ward; Henry Bohres, for Justice of the Peace, Second District; Frank Slopsky, for Justice, Sixth District; George P. Kolb, for Justice, Ninth District; Abe Siltman, for Constable, Fifth District; Fred C. Gastorf and Howard Lindsay, for Committeeman, Fifth Ward; L. W. Mees, for Committeeman, Tenth Ward; Joe McCann and P. A. Zels, for Committeeman, Twentieth Ward.

In Democratic List.
Democrats—John J. McGillicuddy, for Constable, Sixth District; N. J. Chrnick, for Committeeman, Eighth Ward; Mrs. Violet E. Kinney, for Committeewoman, Eleventh Ward; John F. Hagerty, for Committeeman, Nineteenth Ward; Thomas F. O'Fallon, for Committeeman, Twentieth Ward; Thomas Brown, for Committeeman, Twenty-third Ward, and Mrs. Mary McIntyre for Committeewoman, Twenty-fourth Ward.

The withdrawals in the justice of the peace contests in the Second and Sixth districts leave the Republican nomination in those districts without a contest to Henry Pfeiffer and Nicholas A. Polito, respectively.

COUNCIL FOR GOOD CANDIDATES PICKS LEGISLATIVE LIST

Associated Industries Officers Predominate in the Body Making the Recommendations.

DENY $40,000 FUND
TO BACK TICKET

Of the 29 Indorsed for Nomination 22 Are Republicans and Seven Democrats.

The Council for Good Candidates, whose chief officers are officials of the Associated Industries of Missouri, and whose Executive Committee is composed predominantly of leaders in that organization, yesterday made public its indorsements of St. Louis and St. Louis County candidates for the State Legislature in the coming election.

As told in the Post-Dispatch July 3, when the circulation of its state and the names of most of its candidates were forecast, the council is raising a fund to advance the interests of the candidates. It is backing, chiefly through mailing copies of the state to voters.

It was learned on good authority that the council plans to raise $40,000, but this was denied by an official of the organization who said a much smaller amount would be sufficient.

Conrad G. Beach, vice president of the Missouri Portland Cement Co. and the director of the Associated Industries, is chairman of the council. Elmer Donnell, managing director of the Associated Industries, is vice chairman and Charles G. Bittel is secretary.

Council's Slate.
The candidates on the council's slate are as follows:

For the Senate:
Third District—John Sartorius, Democrat; Thirty-second District, William E. Caulfield, Republican; Thirty-fourth District, Joseph Mosler, Republican, and Frank X. Reiler, Democrat.

For the House:
First District (four to be nominated), Hugo L. Weismann, Louis C. Hehl, William J. Francis and Arthur Stoehr, Republicans, and August J. Deubler, Democrat.

Second District (three to be nominated), Clifford F. Barnes and Horace G. Beidle, Republicans.

Third District (four to be nominated), William R. Schneider, Dr. Edward E. Rommer, Walthall M. Moore and Frederick J. Corbett, Republicans, and Emil V. Diery and Samuel L. Fox, Democrats.

Fourth District (four to be nominated), T. J. Ferris, Louis Mannist, Louis A. Riemer and J. H. Ahrens, Republicans, and John H. Adams, Democrat.

Fifth District (four to be nominated), O. J. Papke, Jones H. Farber, George W. Wackman and J. Ray Weinprener, Republicans, and William J. Cochran Jr., Democrat.

First District, St. Louis County (one to be nominated), William W. Bamber, Republican.

Second District, St. Louis County (one to be nominated), Alfred C. Wilson, Republican.

A Check on Radicalism.
The circular containing the slate also includes this explanation of the origin and composition of the council:

"A voluntary committee, composed of business men of St. Louis and St. Louis County, was organized in March, 1924, for the purpose of placing squarely before the public the necessity for each voter accepting his share of responsibility for good government."

"Because of the rapid spread of radicalism in the lawmaking bodies of the states and nation, the committee unanimously decided to use its best efforts to secure the nomination and election of men of character, ability and integrity as members of the Missouri State Legislature."

"Members of the committee are firm in the belief that if candidates of high caliber are selected, the interests of the people of Missouri will be fairly safeguarded, without regard to party, creed, class or faction. This movement is strictly non-partisan and is carried on for what is believed to be the best interests of all the people."

"After careful and conscientious investigation, the Council for Good Candidates presents for your favorable consideration and support at the polls on primary day, August 3, the candidates for State Senate and House of Representatives. The candidates named are preferred, but this indorsement is not intended to mean that no others are qualified."

GEN. O'MEARA DIES; LONG IN STATE GUARD

Contractor, 76, Was Lieutenant-Governor and Later Adjutant-General.

The funeral of John Baptiste O'Meara, former Lieutenant-Governor and former Adjutant-General of Missouri, and Brigadier-General in the National Guard, who died yesterday, will be at 8 a. m. tomorrow at St. Rose's Catholic Church, Maple and Goodfellow avenues. Burial will be in Calvary cemetery.

Gov. O'Meara, as he was commonly called, died at his home, 5347 Cabanne avenue, from the infirmities of age. He was 76.

For many years he was one of the most active supporters of the state militia organization. He entered in 1870, as a private, the first National Guard Company organized in St. Louis after the Civil War. In later years he was captain, major and chief paymaster.

As Adjutant-General under Gov. Major's administration, from 1913 to 1917, he attained the military rank of Brigadier-General. He had charge of mobilizing the state troops sent to the Mexican border in 1916, and for this work he received a medal from the Government.

Native of St. Louis. He was a native of St. Louis, and was educated in St. Louis University. He worked as a bank clerk for seven years, and he later inherited from his father, Patrick O'Meara, an established building and contracting business.

The firm, which became the Hill-O'Meara Construction Co., operated three large quarries, converted horse car lines into electric railways, put down the first electric conduits, and built several structures still familiar, including the old intake tower at the Chain of Rocks, the Second Presbyterian, Lindell Avenue (now Grace) Methodist and other church edifices. The company constructed the roads in the old Fair Grounds, now Fairground Park.

He was nominated by the Democrats for Lieutenant-Governor in 1892, on the ticket headed by William J. Stone for governor, and served through the Stone administration.

Few Near Relatives. He was married, as a young man, to Miss Sallie Helm Ford, a granddaughter of a former Governor of Kentucky. She died a few years later. A sister, Miss Tessie O'Meara, has made her home with him for many years. The only other near relative is a grandnephew, Malcolm McMenamy of 6615 Waterman avenue.

Gen. O'Meara was noticeable for his military carriage. He was prominent in the Missouri Society, Sons of the American Revolution, in which he held membership through the military services of his grandfather, John Baptiste O'Meara, Lieutenant in the Irish Brigade which served under Count d'Estaing in Georgia, and under Gen. Washington at Yorktown.

Rhinelanders' Wife in England. Special to the Post-Dispatch. SOUTHAMPTON, England, July 23.—Mrs. Alice Kip Rhineland, clinging to her mother's arm and apparently timid at attentions directed at her, landed here today from the liner Majestic after having remained secluded in a second-class cabin until all other passengers had gone ashore. "I won't say whether or not I plan to meet my husband," she told reporters.

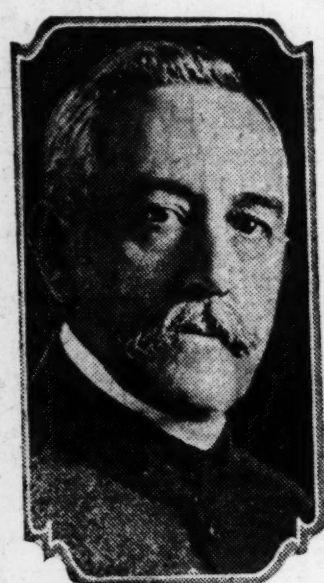

Roger Pryor Weds Miss Mitchell. By the Associated Press. NEW YORK, July 23.—Priscilla J. Mitchell, daughter of the late Julian Mitchell, stage director and of Bessie Clayton, dancer, was married to Roger Pryor, son of Arthur Pryor, the bandmaster. She was accompanied by her mother. The bridegroom said he was 24 and an actor. The bride gave her age as 23.

MANY CHURCH HYMNS BAD MUSIC, SAYS BOSTON TEACHER

Such Works Do as Much Harm as Jazz or Theater, Professor Thinks.

By the Associated Press. CHICAGO, July 23.—The Rev. Earl E. Harper, professor of music and worship at Boston University, and chairman of the world-wide Methodist Commission on Music, who is conducting a series of lectures on singing and choirs at Des Plaines, a suburb, tonight upheld the statement of H. Augustine Smith regarding the decline in church music.

"I think the church is doing as much harm in musical work in many places as are jazz bands and theaters," he said. "It is teaching people that bad music is good music and many hymns are being sung in churches that can not and should not receive consideration of musicians or those of literary tastes."

"If the church is going to live up to its past of making better music, it must clean house in the matter of lazy music, low artistic ideals and cheap sensationalism."

C. H. Burdick Dies at 69. Clarence H. Burdick, 69 years old, retired conductor of the Chicago & Alton Railroad, died of heart disease yesterday at his home, 3014 Ann avenue, after an illness of two months. He retired two years ago after working 46 years for the Chicago & Alton Railroad, 41 years of which he served as a conductor. He is survived by his widow, two sons, Dr. Jerome Burdick of St. Louis and Harold Burdick of Quincy, and a daughter, Mrs. R. B. Sheridan of St. Louis. The body will be sent tonight to Roodhouse, Ill., his former home, for burial.

Wants Marriage to Actress Annulled. By the Associated Press. LOS ANGELES, Cal., July 23.—A petition requesting the annulment of his marriage to Alice Calhoun, motion picture actress, has been filed in Superior Court by Mendel Silberberg, a local attorney. They were married last May, and, according to the annulment suit, the actress was engaged to another man at the time. Following the marriage, the complaint avers, the actress continued to accept gifts from the former suitor, whose name is not mentioned.

LAMOTTE, C. ROBERTSON AND JONNARD, IN ADDITION TO CASH, GIVEN FOR STAR

Amount of Money Involved in Deal Not Given Due by Management but Secen Clubs Were Seeking Shulte—Price Said to Be Highest in City's History.

Business Manager Bill Friel of the Browns announced this morning that the club had purchased Fritz Shulte, outfielder, from the Milwaukee club of the American Association. Friel said Milwaukee would receive cash and three players, Shulte to report to the Browns next spring, with Bob Lamotte, utility infielder, going to Milwaukee immediately.

Friel said the club had decided not to disclose the amount of cash paid for Shulte but declared that the player, if sold in the open market, would have brought $125,000.

Without doubt Shulte, regarded as the greatest prospect in the minor leagues this season, is the most expensive player ever bought by a St. Louis club.

Last year the Browns paid cash and players for Oscar Melillo, of Milwaukee, the cost being given out unofficially as $60,000.

Shulte was sought by every club in the major leagues and it is known that the bids were as high as $100,000. The Browns were given first consideration because they sent help to the Milwaukee club early in the season, when the team needed added strength in the pennant race.

Charley Robertson was sent to Milwaukee outright and Claude Jonnard on option. Lamotte is being sent to Milwaukee on option. They are likely to figure in the final settlement of the deal, but if Milwaukee wants other players, they may be returned and others sent until Milwaukee is satisfied.

Shulte is batting .401.

The latest acquisition of the Browns has been one of the stars of the American Association this season and was sought by every major league club. Harry Grabner, secretary of the White Sox, stated that he would pay $25,000 more than any big league team offered.

However, the Browns had the inside track on the player. The Cubs

Southworth Hits Home Run To Celebrate Mueller Day

But Heine Gets a Double and Scores First Run and the Giants Win—Hornsby Has No Reason to Regret Exchange of Outfielders.

By Herman Wecke.

Clarence Franklin Mueller, known in baseball circles as "Heine" Mueller, president of the Grand-Dover Penuche Club, was tendered a day at Sportsman's Park yesterday. It was occasioned because it was the South Slider's first visit to St. Louis since he was traded to New York, June 15. And Heine is scheduled for another day, already yet. It will come Sunday when the Giants make their final appearance here.

While Heine was being honored, Billy Southworth, the player who came to the Cardinals in exchange for Mueller, was looking on a day. Maybe he wasn't. Maybe Southworth is just one of those ball-players who crave base hits. It's almost a certainty that Billy Southworth will not be given a day in the Cardinals next appear in New York.

Look at the Home Run.

And while the presents were being distributed and "Heine" was being cheered by his home folks, there was no one who could give Rogers Hornsby, manager of the Cardinals, that he made a mistake when he traded the "Flying Dutchman" from down on Dover place for Billy Southworth. Days may come and days may go, but Hornsby always will contend that Southworth is a better ballplayer for the Cardinals this season than Heine Mueller.

Some year, maybe in 1927, Heine will be a better ballplayer. He is but 25 years of age, whereas Southworth is 32. But Hornsby saw visions of a flag in 1926, so he traded Mueller to the New York Giants. And that's the principal reason that Clarence Franklin Mueller is having two days in St. Louis.

And what have the two demon athletes done since they changed clubs? Heine has hit 15 home runs, while the Cardinals were in the East? It is always said that figures do not lie. If this is true, then Hornsby's belief that Southworth would prove more valuable than Mueller is justified. For

Pacific Coast Golfers Lead After 18 Holes

Stein and Dolp Have Advantage Over Knepper and Hiser.

By the Associated Press.

WHITE BEAR LAKE, Minn., July 23.—Two Pacific Northwest golfers were leading after the morning 18 holes in the semifinals of the Western amateur golf tournament today.

B. E. Stein, Seattle, was 2 up on Rudy Knepper, Chicago, and Frank Dolp, of Portland, Ore., playing a brilliant 69, was 6 up on Kenneth Hiser of Chicago.

In becoming 2 up on Knepper after the morning 18, Stein shot a 38 on the second nine, while Knepper required 40.

Square at the turn, Stein won the tenth with a birdie three.

Each needed an extra stroke on the twelfth, but Stein took the fourteenth when Knepper missed his putt. They halved the remaining holes. Their cards:

RUTH CATCHES BALL FROM PLANE; KNOCKED DOWN THREE TIMES

NEW YORK, July 23.—After missing several and being thrice knocked from his feet, "Babe" Ruth caught the seventh baseball tossed from a speeding airplane at Mitchell Field yesterday during a benefit stunt performance for the citizens' military training camp.

The first ball, dropped from an altitude of 1000 feet while the plane skimmed over the field at 100 miles an hour, was lifted far out of the field's reach, as was the second and third. The fourth, tossed from an altitude of 250 feet, was twisted by the wind just as "Babe" got himself full under it. It struck him on the chest and he went down. He arose, declaring the thing "had the kick of a bullet" and made ready for another attempt.

Run Ruth was struck on the shoulder by the fifth ball and went down again. The sixth he caught, but the elusive pellet broke through his hands, hit his chest and down he went again.

Capt. H. H. McClelland took his plane up once more, flew to the same speed and at a height of about 250 feet tossed over the seventh ball. This time "Babe" danced all over the field, following the erratic descent of the ball, as it was jerked this way and that by the wind. It smacked his glove clean and full and he staggered under the impact, but held it.

SALE OF CHANCE PLAY TO J. E. WIDENER FOR $150,000 REPORTED

By the Associated Press.

SARATOGA SPRINGS, N. Y., July 23.

REPORTS were current in racing circles here today that Chance Play, famous 3-year-old race horse, has been sold by the Log Cabin Stud to J. E. Widener for $150,000.

Sam Keen, trainer for Widener, said the horse had been removed to the Widener stables on cable instructions from Mr. Widener, now on his way from Europe.

Star Oarsmen to Participate in Central States

Junior Events of Regatta to Be Decided at Creve Coeur Lake Tomorrow.

The Central States Rowing regatta, to be held tomorrow and Sunday at Creve Coeur Lake, will bring together some of the best oarsmen in the country. Junior races will be held tomorrow, with the seniors Sunday.

Two of the greatest scullers in the country, Charles R. Miner and Fred Reichers of the Lincoln Park Boat Club of Chicago are entered in the senior race. Lincoln Park also has four other entrants in this event and is expected to capture first, second and third place. Robert Bodach, bow, and Charles Miner, stroke, represent the same club in the senior doubles and are expected to have little trouble in winning.

The championship four-oared crew of the South Side Boat Club of Quincy, composed of Husong, bow; W. Arp, No. 2; P. Arp, No. 3; and Bennett, stroke, are favorites in both senior and open four. Should the crew win the oarsmen will be sent to Philadelphia to compete for the national championship.

The senior barge is expected to go to the St. Louis Rowing Club. This crew has won practically all of the local river races.

The feature event of the regatta will be the senior eight. The Lincoln Park crew which won last year will again represent the club.

Sarazen-Smith Play-Off Is Set For Tomorrow

Greatest Golf Tie in History Will Be Resumed With 18-Hole Morning Round.

By the Associated Press.

NEW YORK, July 23.—Gene Sarazen, former national open champion, and MacDonald Smith, Western and Long Island open titleholder, tomorrow will try to end the greatest golf tie in history.

At the end of the scheduled 72 holes of the Metropolitan championship at the Salisbury Country Club near Garden City, N. Y., last week, these two were deadlocked at 286 strokes. Last Sunday at the end of the first playoff round each registered 70, three under par and in the second they posted 73 and no decision was forthcoming.

At the end of the second playoff round they had passed the record reached by Willie MacFarlane and Bobby Jones in the national open at Worcester, Mass., in 1925, when MacFarlane won the title by a single stroke on the thirty-sixth extra hole.

There must be a decision in the Metropolitan and the players agreed to meet in an 18-hole test tomorrow morning and again in the afternoon if it is found necessary. Sarazen won the Metropolitan crown at Grassy Sprain, a year ago.

MELILLO IS A. L. SENSATION OF SEASON, SAYS BOSTON CRITIC

YOUNGSTER IS SMOOTH WORKER AT PIVOT SACK

Sisler's Team Will Have Something to Say About 1926 Flag Winner — Nevers to Pitch Game Tomorrow.

By a Special Correspondent of the Post-Dispatch.

BOSTON, July 23.—If those St. Louisans who are after George Sisler's scalp would watch his Brownies and himself perform here in Boston, there would be a complete turn about. The Browns may not have a very high place in the American League sun, but they certainly know how to outguess and outscore the hapless Red Sox.

The double header which went St. Louisward Wednesday was the tipoff. It was proved again yesterday when the Browns won, 5-4, in 11 innings. It is not here and there that may have something to do with the Browns' success. Nobody is complaining of a sore spot and all the players are hustling. As far as local fandom is concerned, it is hard to understand why the team is so low in the league standing.

The Browns are not the hardest hitting club in the circuit, but there isn't a club that wouldn't swap infielders. Hardly an inning has passed in the present series that Gerber, Melillo and Sisler have not turned something sensational. As a fielding second sacker, Melillo already has qualified as one of the smoothest performers in the circuit and without doubt he is the sensation of the receipts appearing in the league this season.

Recently, while the Browns were handing it to the slipping Yanks, Gerber, Melillo and Sisler turned in four double plays. The ability with which the first two mentioned players are working at the keys is reflected in the record of double killings. It is about time that the St. Louis fans realized that the Browns lead the league in two-play killings this season. When the most recent averages were issued they had turned 89.

Red Sox Need Help.

The Red Sox played pennant ball against the White Sox, but in the bouts with the Browns have slipped back into wicked ways. They lack the pep a winning ball club needs. So it is no surprise that Bob Quinn is searching around for a chance to build up.

There is a story here that Ray Schalk, veteran catcher of the White Sox, has about served his apprenticeship with the team. He is one of the very best thinkers in baseball and would do lots of good on the White Sox. Schalk has the privilege, in the event, to be granted of going where he wills. As the Boston staff of pitchers includes youngsters like Wilkie, Welser, Ruffing and Russell, a man

$35,000 "Invested" At the Track on Madison Derby

A BOUT $35,000 was "invested" at the track last night on the Madison Kennel Club's greyhound derby. This is three or four times the amount wagered on the average race, and does not include the bets laid with bookmakers here and on the East Side who operated "future" books.

With the close of the meeting tomorrow, two carloads of greyhounds will be shipped to other tracks, one to the new establishment at Montreal, Canada, and one to Erlanger, Ky., which is a short distance from Cincinnati.

like Schalk, with his great experience, would help a lot.

A First Division Club.

With Vangilder, Giard, Wingard and Davis showing increased efficiency, it is a dollar to a doughnut that the Browns will take the upward path. The club is a first division organization and will have lots to say about where the pennant will go in Ban Johnson's circuit.

Gerber may not hit as often as some of his pals, but his fielding is always the talk of the town. Quinn and Lee Pohl would give half the Sox outfit to have him teaming alongside Regan. Bill Jacobson is making flagrant step for the favor of the fans here. Against Wingard and Davis he had five out of six.

George Sisler says he will pitch Ernie Nevers in one of the games tomorrow. Ernie is the famous Stanford fullback, who was named for all-America honors last year. Coast fans rate him with the famous Red Grange. It will be Ernie's first appearance in any guises before a Boston gathering.

2-YEAR-OLD TROTTER STEPS A FAST MILE

By the Associated Press.

KALAMAZOO, Mich., July 23.—A grand old trotter, 2-year-old, went a mile under 2:10 for the first time this year when Ben White's Ruth Chenault took the second heat of the Columbia Hotel Stake here yesterday in 2:09 3/4.

The White filly had been obliged to trail Hollywood Sheila in the opening mile and it required an extra burst of speed to finish out in front the second time around the track. The two colts, with a heat to their credit, went an extra mile under the conditions, with the White entrant winning over Sheila under the home stretch.

DRAKE U. WILL BAR STAR HIGH JUMPER

By the Associated Press.

DES MOINES, Ia., July 23.—The Des Moines Register says today that the doors of Drake University have been closed to George R. Simpson, star hurdler and high jumper, whose domestic troubles came to light in a justice court at Perry, Ia.

Simpson, who has been attending summer school at Drake, was arraigned on charges of non-support and desertion of his wife and baby. A reconciliation was effected, however, and the charges were dropped.

Sunny Concern First in $2000 Greyhound Derby

12,000 Spectators, a Record for U. S., Sees Female Beat Field of Seven.

By Jack Alexander.

The local commissioner who made Sunny Concern an 8 to 5 shot in his future book on the Madison Kennel Club's $2000 Derby, must have had experience as a country banker of the Horatio Alger type. Last night before a jammed-in mass of 12,000 persons, clutching colored tickets, Sunny Concern won the race and won handsily, to pay $4.80, or 7 to 5.

Trey Ross finished second, Knockoff third and Fat Chance fourth. The winner's time was 54.3 for the half mile, 1:13 over the world's record. She is a brindle 3-year-old.

Only Female in the Field.

The only female in the group of eight candidates for the purse and starting out of the eighth box, or the outside position, Sunny Concern showed her superiority on the first lap, gaining ground steadily on the leaders and passing the judge's stand for the first time with a nice lead. General Buster forced the pace in the second swing around the quarter-mile oval and Sunny Concern dropped back to second for a respite, but put on a spurt in the stretch that won for her by a length.

She was still fresh and, eluding the attendants, sped around the track for an extra lap, pursued by three other hounds who were dripping at the gums.

Police concern might better have described the winner's way of accepting the blanket of roses emblematic of her victory. Frank C. Lawman of Severy, Kan., her owner, received the large silver cup and the $2,000.

Last night's crowd was by far the largest of the meeting. The stands were crowded, aisles packed and every available bit of standing space covered in front of and under the stand. The paddock and betting booths were surrounded by a crush of milling throngs. Several hundred spectators fled the jam and stood along the rail of the track on the far side.

The promoters said the crowd was the largest in the history of greyhound racing and bettered by 1500 the attendance records for derby night at Miami and Erlanger, Ky. The attendance in the past two weeks has been the heaviest of the present meeting.

Fall Meeting Probable.

Some doubt was expressed as to whether a fall meeting would be held but it will take a lot of self-abnegation on the part of the promoters to pass it up. Promoters are not noted for passing up good things.

One of the most forlorn figures last night was a man trying to find the small pieces of a winning ticket his wife had torn up by mistake and thrown to the ground near a refreshment stand. He will get new finger-nails eventually but he probably didn't get his ticket.

Latter always a prominent factor, closed with determination, but was not good enough. Held Knockoff safe for the place. Latter moved up courageously in final stages, outgamed Chance for third. Buster set up an early pace, offering keen contention, weakened rapidly in final stages. Ribbon was done soon after the quarter. Others were never contenders.

MALONE IS OFFERED BOUT WITH DELANEY

By the Associated Press.

SEATTLE, Wash., July 23.—Jock Malone of St. Paul, Minn., announced that he has received an offer from Jim Mullen, Chicago promoter, to box Jack Delaney, world's light heavyweight champion, in Chicago, next month. Malone said he would give his answer after fighting Leo Lomski of Aberdeen, Wash., here Tuesday. Mullen said Delaney had agreed to make 165 pounds for the bout.

Malone and Delaney have twice before been matched to fight, but both bouts were canceled.

By the Associated Press.

CINCINNATI, O., July 23.—A field of six starters in the Coney Island Derby, $25,000 added, to be run tomorrow at the Coney Island track seems assured, although Bagenbaggage, winner of the Latonia Derby, has been scratched because of an injury.

After a final workout at Homewood track, near Chicago, just before Bagenbaggage was to be shipped here, trainer William Hurley noticed that the colt had gone lame. An examination revealed

POLICE ARREST 2 MEN AFTER STORE ROBBERY

Prisoners Admit Looting Shop
at 1400 Benton St., Officers Report.

A man with a hammer smashed the plate glass window of Mrs. Helen Carson's dry goods store at 1400 Benton street and another man climbed into the store as a motorist passed at 12:20 a. m. today. The witness telephoned to the North Market Street Police station and a few minutes later Const. Hoagland and two detectives were racing to the scene.

The police machine approached the store as an automobile started to move away from the corner with two men in it. To stop the machine, the police car was driven in front of it and the two cars collided, tangling fenders.

The prisoners said they were Frank Hauser, 22 years old, and Frank Schwandt, 32, in their machine was a 1925 Buick. Police reported that the two men admitted the burglary.

The women knocked down by Negro Robbers.
Awakened by a noise in the kitchen, Mrs. Emma Crouther, 35 years old, of 5500 Pennsylvania avenue, went downstairs at 9:30 p. m. last night, thinking it was her husband, Charles, who was away from home.

She was confronted by a Negro, who struck her with his fist and knocked her down when she screamed. Forty minutes later, Crouther arrived and found her husband unconscious on the kitchen floor. The house had been ransacked and a purse containing $4 was gone.

Mrs. Hazel M. Clark, 27, of 3800 Lindell boulevard, was approaching her home at midnight when a Negro stepped from a driveway and demanded her purse. When she tried to pass on, he struck her in the face, knocked her down and took a purse containing $16.

WARRANT TO BE ISSUED IN BASEBALL LOTTERY CASE
Circuit Attorney Sidener Makes Decision After Hearing Detectives Who Raided Office.

A warrant will be issued against Frank Burke, 35 years old, of 2255 Cass avenue, Circuit Attorney Sidener announced today after hearing detectives who Wednesday raided a printing establishment at 702-704 Fullerton building, where 250,000 baseball and weather lottery tickets were seized and 12 men and women arrested.

Burke had been named as the man who rented the quarters and had signed bonds of several men arrested Monday in a similar raid at 319-320 Fullerton building. Sidener would not disclose the offense to be charged in the warrant, but it is supposed it will be establishing a lottery. Police will endeavor to persuade other prisoners to act as witnesses against Burke.

STRIKING BRITISH MINERS' FOOD AND CASH ALLOWANCE
Soup Kitchens Organized in Coal Districts, School Children Taken Care Of.

Special Cable to the Post-Dispatch and the Chicago Daily News.
CARDIFF, Wales, July 23.—In the important mining cities and villages of the Rhonda and Monmouth districts the striking miners' strike pay, which seldom exceeds a dollar a week, is supplemented by the poor relief guardians, who give from their / local funds two dollars a week to the miner's wife and 80 cents to each child. Soup kitchens have been organized in every district by the educational authorities, providing at least one hot meal daily for school children.

Local tradesmen have come to the miners' assistance, either by extending limited credits or contributing foodstuffs to local clubs. What the miners' wives are complaining most about is the lack of clothing, but during this season of the year the complaint is not very serious. There is a great deal of suffering among the unmarried miners, who are not entitled to any relief. The local clubs are offering them one scanty meal a day, but this is not sufficient for a grown man.

ONE WOMAN KILLS ANOTHER IN QUARREL OVER BUCKET
Slayer in Kentucky Was on Way to Get Warrant Charging Neighbor With Theft.

By the Associated Press.
PIKEVILLE, Ky., July 23.—A quarrel over a water bucket resulted in the shooting to death today of Mrs. Sarah Lester, 30 years old, by Mrs. Armin Hall, 30, who is physically disabled.

The bucket was left at a well, used by families across the river from here, by Mrs. Hall, who charged Mrs. Lester had taken it. Mrs. Hall told a neighbor of Mrs. Lester's she was coming here to swear out a warrant charging Mrs. Lester with theft. Mrs. Lester heard the statement and came out of her house and the two women quarreled.

Mrs. Hall fired with a revolver she was carrying wrapped in a handkerchief. She was arrested and brought here to await a preliminary hearing.

ATTORNEYS ASK TWO FEES IN ONE BANKRUPTCY SUIT

Acted for Trustee and Principal Creditor, Latter Having Paid for Winning Suit.

The various capacities in which lawyers may appear in one case were outlined at a hearing before Referee Coles yesterday on petitions of Carlisle J. Dunn and John B. Reno, attorneys, for fees in the Julius Chapman bankruptcy proceedings dismissed last April at Chapman's cost.

Chapman listed debts of $2000 and assets of $198. The debts were paid by his wife, however, after Chapman and several other witnesses were subjected to a rigorous examination before Referee Coles as to disposition of assets before he filed his voluntary petition.

Reno is asking $3000 as attorney for Dunn, who served as trustee in the bankruptcy case, and for $2000 as counsel for Mrs. Jane Vaughn, who was Chapman's principal creditor holding judgments totaling $9500 for the death of her husband, Thomas, and injuries sustained by her when she, and her husband, were run down by a truck driven by Chapman Nov. 21, 1921.

Dunn is asking for the usual trustee's fee, fixed by statute, plus $500 investigating expenses.

Morris G. Levinson, attorney for Chapman, is opposing all the fees of the group that Dunn, who originally represented Mrs. Vaughn, and Reno, who succeeded him, received 45 per cent of the $9500 paid Mrs. Vaughn by Mrs. Chapman, who obtained an assignment of her husband's debts when the bankruptcy proceedings were abruptly terminated last April. Dunn testified under cross-examination yesterday that he held a contingent fee contract from Mrs. Vaughn, and admitted that he held a contingent fee contract from Mrs. Vaughn and admitted that he received 45 per cent of the sum paid Mrs. Vaughn, which $1000 was paid to Reno. The hearing was continued today.

A warrant will be issued against Frank Burke, 35 years old, of 2255 Cass avenue, Circuit Attorney Sidener announced today after hearing detectives who Wednesday raided a printing establishment at 702-704 Fullerton building, where 250,000 baseball and weather lottery tickets were seized and 12 men and women arrested.

Burke had been named as the man who rented the quarters and had signed bonds of several men arrested Monday in a similar raid at 319-320 Fullerton building. Sidener would not disclose the offense to be charged in the warrant, but it is supposed it will be establishing a lottery. Police will endeavor to persuade other prisoners to act as witnesses against Burke.

STRIKING BRITISH MINERS' FOOD AND CASH ALLOWANCE

Special Cable to the Post-Dispatch and the Chicago Daily News.
CARDIFF, Wales, July 23.—In the important mining cities and villages of the Rhonda and Monmouth districts the striking miners' strike pay, which seldom exceeds a dollar a week, is supplemented by the poor relief guardians, who give from their / local funds two dollars a week to the miner's wife and 80 cents to each child. Soup kitchens have been organized in every district by the educational authorities, providing at least one hot meal daily for school children.

Local tradesmen have come to the miners' assistance, either by extending limited credits or contributing foodstuffs to local clubs. What the miners' wives are complaining most about is the lack of clothing, but during this season of the year the complaint is not very serious. There is a great deal of suffering among the unmarried miners, who are not entitled to any relief. The local clubs are offering them one scanty meal a day, but this is not sufficient for a grown man.

Slayer in Kentucky Was on Way to Get Warrant Charging Neighbor With Theft.

By the Associated Press.
PIKEVILLE, Ky., July 23.—A quarrel over a water bucket resulted in the shooting to death today of Mrs. Sarah Lester, 30 years old, by Mrs. Armin Hall, 30, who is physically disabled.

The bucket was left at a well, used by families across the river from here, by Mrs. Hall, who charged Mrs. Lester had taken it. Mrs. Hall told a neighbor of Mrs. Lester's she was coming here to swear out a warrant charging Mrs. Lester with theft. Mrs. Lester heard the statement and came out of her house and the two women quarreled.

Mrs. Hall fired with a revolver she was carrying wrapped in a handkerchief. She was arrested and brought here to await a preliminary hearing.

MILLITIA SERGEANT HELD IN DRY DISTRICT
LINCOLN, Neb., July 23.—Sgt. Paul Griffith, National Guard instructor attached to the Adjutant General's office at the State House, here, is in jail, unable to raise bond. He was arrested by a Deputy State Sheriff at his desk Wednesday on charges of conspiracy to violate prohibition laws. He is alleged to have solicited business for a bootlegging ring. Three men alleged to be members of the ring, also are in jail.

RIVAL FIRM SEEKS TO BLOCK STOCK ISSUE

West Missouri Power Co. Would Halt Plan of Missouri Power & Light Co.

By the Jefferson City Correspondent of the Post-Dispatch.

JEFFERSON CITY, July 23.—An intervening petition seeking to block the proposed issuance of $335,000 in preferred stock of the Missouri Power and Light Co. was filed with the State Public Service Commission yesterday by stockholders of the West Missouri Power Co. of Pleasant Hill, Mo., who now are involved in litigation over attempts of the Missouri Power and Light Co. to enforce an agreement for sale to it of the property and common stock of the Pleasant Hill company.

The Missouri Power and Light Co. is a subsidiary of the North American Light and Power Co. and figured in the recent $150,000,000 merger of public utilities effected by the Samuel Insull interests of Chicago and the North American Co. of New York, owner of the Union Electric Light and Power Co. of St. Louis. Utilities in 700 communities of Missouri, Illinois, Iowa and Kansas figured in the merger.

Stockholders of the West Missouri Power Co. asserted in their petition that the commission should deny the pending application of the Missouri Power and Light Co. for authority to issue $335,000 in additional preferred stock. They charged that the Missouri Power and Light Co. was overcapitalized, that its gross and net earnings had decreased materially in the past year, that its earnings and property were pledged to secure obligations of the holding company controlling its stock and alleged that the earnings were not sufficient to pay existing fixed charges and to provide an adequate depreciation reserve.

It also was charged that persons controlling management of the Missouri Power and Light Co. had only a small investment and that the company was not in a financial condition justifying the additional stock issue. The company operates utilities in Jefferson City, Mexico, Moberly, Kirksville, Booneville and several other Missouri towns.

Interest of the West Missouri Power Co. stockholders in the Missouri Power and Light Co. proposed stock issue centers in the fact that if they are required to sell the Pleasant Hill Co. under a contract now in the courts, they will have to accept $1,029,000 in preferred stock of the Missouri Power and Light Co. and $514,000 of preferred stock of the North American Light and Power Co., the holding company, in payment for their holdings.

A suit now is pending in Henry County Circuit Court, seeking to compel the stockholders of the West Missouri Power Co. to carry out an agreement to sell the physical property and common stock of the West Missouri Power Co. to the Missouri Power and Light Co.

WOMAN DENIES SHE KISSED RED GRANGE AS HUSBAND SAYS
Mrs. Charles A. Taylor of Los Angeles Thinks Football Star a Wonderful Boy.

By the Associated Press.
LOS ANGELES, July 23.—Mrs. Charles A. Taylor, whose wealthy oil well supply dealer husband yesterday charged her with kissing Harold (Red) Grange in a kissing scene, and otherwise being more than ordinarily familiar with the football player, through her attorneys today categorically denied all the charges.

Taylor, although he charged that his wife used one of Grange's knees instead of an adjacent chair, rumbled his hair, patted his cheeks and kissed the football player, made it plain that he did not know Red, Charles Pyle, Grange's manager, is Taylor's cousin.

Mrs. Taylor says "Red is a wonderful boy."

38 PERSONS INJURED WHEN BARN COLLAPSES DURING STORM
Pea Pickers on New York Farm Had Sought Shelter in Building; Heavy Property Loss.

By the Associated Press.
SYRACUSE, N. Y., July 23.—Tearing down through Madison, Chenango and Cortland counties, a gale of tornado-like proportions injured 38 persons, caused property damage estimated at $1,000,000 and left wrecked farm buildings and crops in its twisted path yesterday afternoon, according to reports reaching this city today.

The 38 injured were pea pickers on a farm near Earlville. They had sought shelter in a barn when the storm broke and the building collapsed.

Hail and rain fell in torrents a moment before the wind swept over the area.

35th Division Reunion Sept. 23.
By the Associated Press.
JEFFERSON CITY, July 23.—Veterans of the 35th Division, residing in this city, have formed a booster committee to make the local arrangements for the annual reunion of the division, which is to be held here on Sept. 25 and 26. Col. Albert Linxwiler is head of the local arrangements group. It is expected that 5000 former doughboys from Missouri and Kansas will be in Missouri capital city for the affair. Approximately two-thirds of the division were from Missouri points, while the balance were citizen soldiers of Kansas.

UNDER-COVER MAN'S TACTICS CALLED BRIBERY IN COURT

Defense at Liquor Trial Says Attorney Worked Deceitful Barred for Such Methods.

By the Associated Press.
NEW YORK, July 23.—The relations between a Bruce Bielaski, Government "under cover" man, and Government witnesses in the so-called Dwyer bribery trial, were classed as "amounting to bribery" in the summation of defense counsel today.

Counsel for one of the eight defendants asserted that if an attorney in private practice had acted as Bielaski had admitted acting in this case, he would be brought before the Grievance Committee for disbarment. In his testimony Bielaski had acknowledged paying various sums to Government witnesses while they were waiting for their call to the witness stand.

Charles Augustus Smith, chief Government witness, was brought into court in iron chains. After defense counsel charged him with perjury and wife desertion at yesterday's session, producing Government records and a woman to back up their accusations, Smith disappeared. A warrant was sworn out for him yesterday when he was brought to the stand in custody of three Deputy Sheriffs.

Counsel for William W. Dwyer suggested that summing up be omitted and the case be given direct to the jury, but both the court and the prosecution preferred that the usual summation be made.

LONDON, July 23.—Assistant Secretary of the Treasury Lincoln C. Andrews, in charge of prohibition enforcement, today explained the connection of A. Bruce Bielaski with dry enforcement.

"Bielaski has been engaged by the Government to take charge of investigation of certain liquor smuggling cases in New York City," Andrews said. "Such cases usually are handled by Maj. Green, head of the investigation bureau of the prohibition force, and Bielaski is working as an expert with that bureau, although he does not belong to it."

CAHOKIA PARK SURVEYED FOR ROAD AND CAMP SITE
First Steps for Improving New Illinois Recreation Tract Under $20,000 Appropriation.

First steps to improve Cahokia Mounds State Park, a 144-acre tract of land six miles northeast of East St. Louis, acquired in 1923 by Illinois for recreation purposes, were taken yesterday when State highway engineers and a landscape architect made a survey preparatory to constructing a roadway and tourist camp in the park.

The land was purchased by the State for $52,000 to preserve Monks Mound, a large Indian formation, and more than 80 other smaller ones in the tract, because of their historic interest. The site is on the National Old Trails highway.

The Legislature has appropriated $20,000 for improving the park. The money will be spent in construction of the tourist camp, which will be ample for 200 camping parties, and roadways and for beautification of the tract.

Actual work will be started within two weeks and will be scheduled for completion in the fall.

Dr. Warren K. Moorhead, an archeologist of Phillips Academy, Andover, Mass., explored the mounds in 1921 and 1922, and found skeletons, specimens of pottery and implements. He expressed the opinion the mounds were thrown up by Indians in ancient times.

DRIVER GETS 30 DAYS IN WORKHOUSE, FINED $100
Herman Miller, 32, Admits Drinking Home Brew Before Collision; Will Appeal.

Herman Miller, 32 years old, a concrete worker, of 2960 Lincoln avenue, was sentenced to 30 days in the workhouse and fined $100 by City Judge Roscoe today for driving when intoxicated June 26.

Miller was charged with colliding with an automobile at Broadway and Soudard street. He admitted today that he had two or three glasses of home brew some hours before the accident, but denied being intoxicated. He appealed.

England Bans American Jazz Artist By the Associated Press.
ASBURY PARK, N. J., July 23.—Ben Bernie, one of the leading exponents of jazz music in this country, has been denied a permit for an eight-week engagement in England. He received word from the British Ministry of Labor today that there was already sufficient musical talent in that country.

Bernie said he would ask the aid of authorities in Washington in appealing the decision.

Severe Storm on Adriatic Coast. By the Associated Press.
TRIESTE, Italy, July 23.—A storm of hurricane force, accompanied by a fall of hailstones as large as plums, swept the northern Adriatic coast today, endangering shipping and destroying crops. The storm lasted for three hours, piling up hail in some places to a depth of seven inches. No loss of life has been reported.

Man Found Injured In Street.
Ralph Jordan, 36 years old, a presser, of 718 North Eighteenth street, was found lying in the street at Twentieth and O'Fallon streets early today in an unconscious condition. He was taken to City Hospital suffering from a skull injury and bruises. He said he did not remember what had happened. He was clutching a butcher knife in his right hand when found.

I. C. C. APPROVES $700,000 DEAL FOR SANTA FE RAILROAD

Involves Transfer of Control of Two Lines and Leasing of Consolidated System.

WASHINGTON, July 23.—The Interstate Commerce Commission has authorized the Haulton and Santa Fe railway to acquire control of the Oklahoma, New Mexico and Pacific and the Ringling & Off Fields railroads. It also has permitted Santa Fe to acquire the Haulton Co. by purchase of its capital stock and to lease the Haulton lines to the Gulf, Colorado & Santa Fe.

The Commission approved the purchase and lease on the condition that the Santa Fe shall not sell, pledge or otherwise dispose of the capital stock of the New Mexico Central without the Commission's consent.

Chairman Eastman dissented, declaring it appeared clearly to be a consolidation of the two carriers into a single system for ownership and operation, "which we are withholding authority to approve under the Interstate Commerce Act."

The New Mexico Central has $410,900 of outstanding capital stock, all but $900 of which is owned by the Metropolitan Co., Inc. The Santa Fe will pay $700,000 in cash for the stock held by the Metropolitan Co. and the lease will be for 10 years.

MONUMENT TO MISSIONARY
Dr. Bernard J. Bettelheim, Missionary, Honored in Japan.

BROOKFIELD, Mo., July 22.—The belated account of the unveiling of the monument to Dr. Bernard J. Bettelheim, pioneer Missionary and the first missionary to Japan, has just been received here. The monument was unveiled May 18 last.

Although Dr. Bettelheim is buried in Rosehill Cemetery at Brookfield, Christians in Japan and throughout the world took up a collection to erect the monument. Six months ago descendants of Dr. Bettelheim sent an inscribed stone to be used in the monument.

Girl's Father Won't Prosecute.
Arthur Woolbright, a chauffeur of Ashley, Ill., who was arrested Wednesday in St. Louis after he had arrived here with Sophia Nowicki, 18, of Ashley, on a hog truck, was released from the Ashley jail yesterday because the father of the girl refused to prosecute him. Woolbright promised to leave Ashley. The girl has been returned home.

19,000 GALLONS OF WHISKY MASH AND STILL SEIZED

Liquor Plant Found in Driveway at Pickle Factory and Four Men Arrested.

Detectives and Federal prohibition agents raided the H. A. Woermann Pickle Co., at 827 South Eleventh street, yesterday afternoon, and in a covered driveway beside the building found about 19,000 gallons of whisky mash, two five-gallon cans of alcohol and a large still, hot from recent operation.

Four Italians who ran from the pickle plant while the detectives were posted about the place were arrested. They gave their names as John Birlardello, John Lafata, David Russo and Joseph Napoli. The raiders also arrested Durant Howard of 1113-A Morrison avenue, the foreman of the pickle plant, who denied knowledge of the bootlegging activities and said the pickle company had rented its driveway.

The whisky mash, which was in 31 hogsheads, will be pumped out by the Fire Department.

Negro Boys Caught Starting Auto.
Two Negro boys, 13 and 10 years old, were caught by Raymond Whitwell, 4716 Willowwood avenue, Pine Lawn, when they attempted to start his automobile, parked near Clara and Natural Bridge avenues at 1 p. m. yesterday. They were sent to the House of Detention.

PROHIBITION IS IMPOSSIBLE.
BRENNAN TELLS EAST SIDE
Democratic Candidate for Senate From Illinois Speaks at East St. Louis Hotel.

George E. Brennan, Democratic candidate for the United States Senate from Illinois, in an address at the Illinois Hotel, East St. Louis, today, declared that "the repeal or modification of the Volstead Act is the dominant issue of my candidacy because the people of the United States have given it that ranking."

"It is the one question uppermost in everybody's mind from the Atlantic to the Pacific," he said. "It has been proved, and admitted by prohibition officials that prohibition as represented by the Volstead act is impossible. The question is whether we shall continue a pretense of prohibition that makes millions of bootleggers and that regulates the sale of alcoholic liquor, not by law, but by the power of gunmen and murderers in the employ of bootleggers."

Brennan arrived last night after touring of Madison and Macoupin counties. His address was delivered at a public reception after which a meeting of county chairmen and precinct committeemen was scheduled. He plans to spend the remainder of the day and tomorrow touring St. Clair County and parts of Madison County.

TWO GEORGIA BANKS REOPEN AFTER RECENT SUSPENSION

Only One Was Member of Trust Co. Now in Hands of Receiver; Grand Jury Investigation.

By the Associated Press.
ATLANTA, Ga., July 23.—Two small banks in Georgia which closed a week ago after the bankruptcy proceedings against the Bankers Trust Co. have reopened for business. Only one of them, however, was a member of the bank trust company chain, of which more than 50 suspended activities after the suspension of business by their fiscal agent.

Meanwhile, two investigations of the Bankers Trust Co.'s affairs moved forward, one by a Fulton grand jury and the other by investigators of Solicitor John A. Boykins' department.

Optometrists Re-elect Officers.
ST. JOSEPH, Mo., July 23.—All officers were re-elected at the annual meeting of the State Board of Optometry here. Dr. A. H. Hatch, Jefferson City, is president; Dr. L. Raines, Maryville, vice president, and Dr. George J. Erskine, Jefferson City, secretary-treasurer. Other members of the board are Dr. W. F. Kimball, St. Joseph; Dr. R. L. Searfoss, Odessa, and Dr. A. P. Thursty, Jr., St. Louis.

425 Suits Filed in Edwardsville.
The office of Sheriff E. R. Deimling at Edwardsville was swamped yesterday with 425 chancery cases, the summons being in dissolution of corporation suits filed by Attorney-General Carlstrom at Belleville, a part of a program to clean up a number of delinquent corporations over Illinois. Several weeks will be required to serve the papers.

FLORA PARK RESIDENTS SEEK TO ENJOIN NEW CHURCH

Suit Directed Against the Compton Heights Christian Congregation's Proposed Building.

A suit to enjoin the congregation of the Compton Heights Christian Church, 2800 St. Vincent avenue, from erecting a new $200,000 church building on the southwest corner of South Grand boulevard and Flora place was filed yesterday by six residents of Flora place.

The petitioners, Julian T. Rombauer, Guy B. Fulton and Joseph Dewes and their wives, assert that Flora place is a restricted residential street and that an agreement entered into by property owners on the street prohibits the use of any lot between Grand boulevard and Tower Grove avenue for other than residence purposes. They further allege that the Compton Heights congregation is using the house on the southwest corner of Grand boulevard and Flora place for religious meetings.

The Rev. James H. Coll, pastor of the church, told a reporter that his congregation acquired the site by purchase three years ago. He explained that it was planned to use a frontage of 150 feet on Grand boulevard and the depth of 204 feet on Flora place as the site of the church.

"The Grand boulevard frontage is not restricted," Rev. Mr. Coll contended, "and further we believe that the Flora place property owners had no right to restrict their street in perpetuity as they did. The character of this neighborhood had changed and Grand boulevard at this point is now a business street."

"Microbe Hunters"

by PAUL DE KRUIF

A Romance Made of Facts

This might be called the greatest detective story in all history. The scene is the whole world. The time, the last two centuries. The villain is the disease germ, the silent and unseen murderer that slays babies in warm cradles and kings in guarded palaces. The detectives are the spectacled men of science who spend their lives studying the mysterious realms and dynasties of microbes on the point of a pin.

The Story Is Told Without the Use of a Scientific Word or Phrase

The Adventurers

LEEUEWENHOEK:
The Dutch janitor who taught himself to grind lenses and was the first to see microbes.

SPALLANZANI:
The not so saintly Italian priest who made weird experiments on the breeding of microbes.

KOCH:
An obscure country doctor who discovered the microbe of tuberculosis.

ROUX:
Pasteur's assistant, who discovered how the diphtheria microbe drips poison.

PASTEUR:
A fighter, a press-agent who made the world see microbes in its sleep, whose dangerous experiments rid mankind of its fear of the mad dog.

BEHRING:
Who found the antitoxin of diphtheria.

METCHNIKOFF:
A Russian who discovered the white blood cells that eat up microbes.

THEOBALD SMITH:
The American who was the first to prove that insects carry dangerous diseases.

BRUCE:
A knight of the tropics who showed how to wipe out sleeping sickness.

ROSS AND GRASSI:
Found out how to exterminate malaria and so make the tropics safe.

WALTER REED and His Volunteers:
Their exciting experiments have completely defeated yellow fever.

EHRlich:
Who invented a magic bullet to shoot the microbe of a terrible disease.

CO-ORDINATED TRAFFIC SIGNALS CONSIDERED

Conditions on Two Streets Studied With View of Giving Plan a Test.

Co-ordinated traffic signals such as are used on Michigan boulevard in Chicago and Fifth avenue in New York are being considered for two St. Louis streets, Director of Streets and Sewers Brooks announced yesterday.

In a series of notes he made on traffic management at various cities as observed by him on a recent trip, Director Brooks said that his traffic engineer, Reyburn Hoffman, is studying conditions on Olive street from Twelfth to Grand boulevards and on Grand from Lafayette to Easton avenues with the view to installing a co-ordinated system.

Advantages of the Plan. Such a plan, which could be operated either automatically or manually from traffic towers, would allow traffic to flow east and west along the entire stretch for example, while it stopped north and south traffic. It is the only system that allows a progressive traffic movement over a considerable area, but it has not yet been determined whether or not it will be practicable for St. Louis.

Director Brooks was one of a party which made a tour for data on municipal auditoriums and his traffic observations were made incidentally. Among the items noticed by him were various types of automatic traffic signals some of which had minor points of superiority over the type in use in St. Louis. He came to the conclusion, however, that since $125,000 has been spent for 130 signals here, they should be used as long as serviceable, especially since they are regarded as satisfactory.

One of the decisions made by Director Brooks on his tour was to replace the painted white lines marking pedestrians' lanes at intersections, with permanent metal markers, imbedded in the paving. The cost about $45 a crossing and need no replacement, the passing of traffic keeping them bright and visible.

Pedestrian Law Observed. The Los Angeles law, which allows pedestrians to halt traffic to make a crossing, functions well, Director Brooks observed. It is invoked largely by older people who cannot dart through traffic, he remarked, and since its passage two years ago has brought only 12 motorist violators to court.

Loans!

When you need money think of Yalton. Thousands have borrowed on their auto, piano, furniture, or cashed in anything of value, and are saying back as little as $2 each week. May we serve you? We don't investigate or call up anyone and you don't need any guarantors. You can get $50 to $1000 in a brief time. Yalton Finance Corp., 1035 N. Grand.

struck a forgotten charge of dynamite was held responsible today for the death of five men and the critical injury of four others in the Powhatan stone quarry here.

The dynamite was deposited in a niche 15 years ago and none of those working in the quarry had given a thought to it for years until a lightning flash and a deafening explosion late yesterday sent tons of rock hurtling through the air.

Flaked Post Toasties Double-Thick

Corn flakes Double-Crisp and Double-Good!

Thick Corn Flakes, at your grocer's or send for a free test package. Open the red and yellow wax-wrapped package and shower some of the oven-fresh corn flakes into a bowl. Now add milk or cream and eat the delicious flakes slowly, critically.

Did you ever taste such flavor? Note how even the last few flakes at the bottom of the bowl still remain crisp and delicious. This test has drawn thousands to the steadily growing list of Post Toasties users. Post Toasties are Double-Crisp and Double-Good because they're Double-Thick!

Note: Be sure you get the genuine Post Toasties in the red and yellow, wax-wrapped package. Ask for them by name and look for the Post Health Products Seal.

NEW YORK WORK BONDS (COMPLETE)

Special to the Post-Dispatch.
NEW YORK, July 23.—In the following table will be found a list of sales, highest, lowest and closing prices of bonds traded in on the New York Stock Exchange today, sales being in $100,000 (omitted).
Quotations on all United States Liberty bonds are in dollars and thirty-seconds of a dollar, that is, for instance, a sale printed 99-24 means $99 and twenty-four thirty-seconds of a dollar and not $99.24.
Total sales today were $6,000,000, against $10,849,000 yesterday.
$10,849,000 week ago, $1,221,000 a year ago and $14,869,000 two years ago.
From Jan. 1 to date, sales were $1,798,905,000, against $2,070,971,000 a year ago, and $2,016,293,000 two years ago.

GIRL, 14, NAMED IN PHONE PERSECUTION

Frances O'Gorman Charged by Undertaker Yohe With Annoying Wife.

A 14-year-old girl today was charged by Earl M. Yohe, undertaker, of 2819 South Kingshighway boulevard, with being the anonymous telephone caller whose series of practical jokes during the past three weeks brought Mrs. Yohe to the verge of a nervous breakdown. The complaint, filed with Juvenile Court officers, is against Frances O'Gorman, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Keyran O'Gorman of 2823 South Kingshighway boulevard, Yohe's next-door neighbor.

Yohe told detectives that his wife had received as many as 20 phone calls a day, alternately threatening or highly annoying. On one occasion he recited, the caller told Mrs. Yohe her husband had been injured in an accident and was on his way home in an ambulance. A few minutes later an ambulance arrived, but when Mrs. Yohe rushed out to meet it she found the driver had been sent to the Yohe home by another anonymous call.

At other times funeral wreaths were sent C. O. D. to the Yohe home and again the caller summoned five taxicabs to the house at the same time. Once another ambulance was sent and on still other occasions the caller summoned Mrs. Yohe from the yard by telephone to tell her that a visitor was on the front porch or that the coffee on her stove was boiling over.

Suspecting from these last two calls that the annoyance lived close by, Yohe had the O'Gorman residence watched. He told police the watcher heard Frances talking on the telephone near a window at the times Mrs. Yohe received anonymous calls.

Frances denied she was the anonymous caller. She was allowed to remain in custody of her parents on their promise to appear in Juvenile Court on call, should investigators find the complaint of the Yohe justified court action against her.

ME AND MINE

By BRUCE

The Man on the Sandbox by L. Davis

JUDGE LYNCH, 'tis said, was rather gruff. And in a manner ruthless; His law, while somewhat crude and rough, Was anything but toothless. The malefactor gave up hope When Sheriff Budlong ketched him; And with a length of hempen rope, His Honor promptly stretched him.

He recognized no petty law, Or, error of indictment; But, judged as per the border law, With no undue excitement. No murderer got out on bail, No pardon board could free him. And no sob sisters crashed the jail With costly flowers to see him.

There was no home-made alibi, Or timid, threatened jury; The Judge could promptly nail a lie, As he was from Missouri. While for the Judge we hold no brief, Or, for his acts excuse him, We have a sneaking pet belief, Right now the world could use him.

HARDLY.
Speaking of hard roads, do you know of any that is harder than the road to Pennantville? Ask the Browns.

Compared to the road to Pennantville, the course of true love is nothing but a joyride.

See where some desperate criminals tried to blow up the Chicago jail. Why so hasty? Why not wait a few days and go out the usual way?

That's the trouble with those Hi Jackers and off-bumpers. They don't give the pardoning powers time to function properly.

The author of "Annie Rooney" is dead but his song has many years to live. She and Maggie Murphy will be going strong when the last jazz note has been jerked from the saxophone.

If Helme Mueller is worth $50,000 to the Giants what is Billy Southworth to the Cards?

Old Tom Zachary gave the Yanks their first coat of whitewash of the season. The Browns aren't going anywhere in particular but they enjoy dropping an occasional tack in the old Pennantville road.
